

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

DURING seventeen years of experience as a law-bookseller, the want I have heard most frequently expressed by lawyers has been for a convenient desk-book to give thorough but condensed information about reports and text-books, together with a practical index to abbreviations. Ten years ago the idea occurred to me of compiling a manual of that kind of information about law-books which is now scattered through catalogues and expensive books of legal bibliography, or exists only in the memories of librarians, without record in print.

The preparation of this work was begun when the idea first suggested itself, but the occupations of a busy life have delayed its completion. In 1876 my father, Richard Soule (author of "A Dictionary of English Synonymes" and other books of reference), came to my assistance, and had nearly prepared the manuscript for the printer when his death occurred in 1877. His aid was so valuable that the book would have been published in his name if he had lived to carry it through the press.

When the work was again taken in hand, a change in its scope and method was thought advisable, necessitating a great amount of research and verification, which have been prolonged through four years. No attempt had previously been made to collect information concerning editions of the American Reports; and on examination of Wallace's Reporters, Marvin's Legal Bibliography, Bridgman's Legal Bibliography, the old catalogues of Worrall, Clarke, and Brooke, and the recent catalogues of the great law libraries, such discrepancies and inaccuracies were discovered, that it was thought best to verify all dates and statements by minute examination of the Reports themselves. The fact that no library contained side by side all the different editions of each book, rendered the work of verification by the compiler extremely slow, and made it necessary for him to devote a great deal of time to the examination of the best libraries in England and America.

Even after manuscript was finally sent to the printer, early proofs of every page of the part of the book devoted to reports were sent to eight librarians and lawyers, and the changes or corrections suggested by them were considered in the final composition of the notes. Most of the dates have been verified after going into type, and where they differ from those of other catalogues, the difference is usually intentional. This method of printing was so slow, that the book has been over a year in going through the press.

Now that it is ready for publication, I must confess how much of this Manual comes from the friends who have assisted me. I gratefully acknowledge the help of my father; of N. C. Moak, of Albany, N. Y., who has been constant for ten years in encouragement and advice; of Prof. John C. Gray, of the Harvard Law School; of J. H. Arnold, Librarian of the Harvard Law School; of F. W. Vaughan, Librarian of the Social Law Library of Boston; of W. J. C. Berry, Librarian of the New York Bar Association; of C. W. Hoffman, Law Librarian of Congress; of W. D. Findlay, formerly assistant librarian of the Philadelphia Law Library; of John Nicholson, Librarian of Lincoln's Inn, London; of the libraries and librarians of the British Museum, the Middle Temple, the Inner Temple, the Incorporated Law Society, and the various Government offices, in London; and of the Massachusetts State Library, the New York Law Institute, and the Law Library at St. Louis.

To these coadjutors may be ascribed most of the merit this volume possesses; while I, as editor, must assume the responsibility for the errors and deficiencies which will doubtless be discovered here, as in even the best of previous catalogues. In the hope that it may fill its measure of usefulness, I submit THE LAWYER'S REFERENCE MANUAL to the lawyers of America, among whom it is my privilege to number very many warm friends.

BOSTON, Jan. 1, 1883.

PLAN OF THE WORK.

THIS work comprehends:—

- I. A list of American Reports, Digests and Statutes, with brief notes in regard to editions and peculiarities.
- II. Lists of the English, Irish, Scotch, and British Colonial Reports, with notes.
The abbreviations recommended in these two parts are such as seem to be at the same time the shortest and the most definite for the use of an American lawyer.
- III. An Index of Authors, &c., which serves both as an index to the proper names in the first two parts, and as an original list of short titles of the principal law journals and of the elementary works now in use or often cited. The dates given are those of the copy-right entry of the last editions.
- IV. An Index of Subjects, covering the elementary works and periodicals in Part III.
- V. An Index of Abbreviations, intended to cover not only such as have been indicated as correct in the first two parts, but also others, whether common or uncommon, correct or incorrect, which have been noted by the compiler in reports, digests, text-books, or briefs.

An explanation or introduction will be found at the beginning of each Part.

The size of the volumes described is to be understood as being some one of the varieties of octavo, unless another size is specified.

AMERICAN REPORTS.

In the year 1819 Mr. Mason said, in the preface to the first volume of his Reports of Cases in the United States Circuit Court, "The judicial systems of the United States and of the separate governments composing the Union give promise of so unlimited an increase to the number of volumes forming the library of the American lawyer, already overcrowded with English reports, that some apology to the profession seems necessary for every additional one that is presented to it."

At that time there were about 180 volumes of American reports. The increase which Mason feared has been so great that there are now over 3,200 volumes of Federal, State, and Territorial reports, without counting condensed editions, reprints, digests, statutes, law journals, or elementary books; and this number is increasing at the rate of over a hundred volumes yearly. The questions as to the ultimate result of this vast growth of precedents from so many different jurisdictions, and of the effect it is having, or will have, upon the writing of text-books, upon law libraries, upon the body of American law, are not within the province of this work, but belong rather to law journals and Bar Associations.

What concerns the scope of this Manual is the fact that there is no printed bibliography of this vast mass of legal literature, except the bare lists of the booksellers' catalogues, and short notes scattered through catalogues, prefaces of digests and reports, and a few books of reference like Bishop's First Book of the Law. Notwithstanding that our system of authorized reporting, under statutes, has merged to a great degree the individuality of the reporter in that of the court, and has rendered his capacity and peculiarities much less important than in the time of the early English reports, when reporting was voluntary, there is still a great deal of material in our American legal literature for an interesting and valuable book like Wallace's Reporters. It is to be hoped that some lawyer will be found to do for our reporters what Wallace has done for their English predecessors,—to sketch their lives; to comment upon their literary merits or demerits; to trace the origin and growth of American reporting from the first voluntary and sporadic efforts of the eighteenth century to the present uniform scheme of appointed and salaried reporters; and to suggest how the mass of case law they are recording can be simplified and assimilated.

Leaving all this to some future writer, the present compiler has undertaken only to gather from various printed, written, and oral sources such brief items of information concerning the American reports as may help a lawyer in consulting or procuring them. Slender as this information may seem, it has been very difficult to gather it; for our law libraries, though generally more perfect than similar libraries in England, are constituted for constant use in practice rather than for study, and have not retained successive editions of the same reports side by side, so that their differences could be examined and noted. It was part of the original plan of the Manual to give under each State a list of its local treatises; but it has been so hard to get information concerning such books, in many of the States, and the lists prepared after extensive research and correspondence were so manifestly imperfect, that it was thought wise to abandon this part of the plan. If another edition should be required, the aid of lawyers in different States, whose interest is aroused by this publication, may enable the compiler to complete and print his lists of local books.

The plan of this compilation is to give under the name of each State or federal jurisdiction a list of its reports, giving the number of volumes, the dates covered by their cases, and the way in which they should be cited; together with the latest digest of reports, and the last revision of the statutes. In the notes, such practical information is given as to editions and contents as may help a lawyer in using the books. The matter of this part of the Manual was all in type before May, 1882; but such corrections have been made in the stereotype plates as will bring the information, as to the latest volumes of reports, down to January, 1883.

The abbreviations recommended are such as seem to the compiler, after consultation with many lawyers, sufficiently simple and definite for general use throughout the United States. Several recent authorities recommend that the name of the State should always be used after that of the reporter; thus, —Pick. (Mass.); Wend. (N. Y.). If this system were thoroughly carried out, it would require a similar definition of English reports, like East (Eng. K. B.); Atk. (Eng. Ch.). But it would seem that the intelligent lawyer, especially if he has this Manual at hand, ought to recognize, or to know how to trace, the American as well as the English reporters, without so much elementary information to lengthen the citation. The very idea of abbreviation implies a certain amount of intelligence and information in both writer and reader. The addition of the abbreviation of the State to that of an individual reporter is, therefore, herein recommended only when there are two or more reporters of the same name. The local customs of the different States are not always followed, for manifest reasons. Thus, in Pennsylvania, the Pennsylvania State Reports (although bound and labelled under that title) are usually cited by the reporters' names, and often by their initials alone. The citation herein suggested is "Pa. St.," which is much simpler and more easily recognized in other States. It is to be noted that the States which have held to the old plan of series of reports under the reporters' names are coming into the better fashion of one State series continuously numbered, thus reducing the diversity if not the number of American reports. Virginia and Kentucky are the latest States to make this change, following the lead of Massachusetts and the Carolinas.

Of 1 Dallas (first edition 1790), a second edition, with notes and references, was published in 1806; and a third edition, with notes by Thos. I. Wharton, in 1830. Of Vol. 4 (first edition 1807), a second edition, with notes by Benj. Gerhard, appeared in 1835. Only one edition of Vols. 2 and 3 has been published.

³ A second "revised edition" of Vols. 1, 2, 3, and 4 was published in 1812. A third edition of Vols. 1 and 2, condensed and published in one volume, was brought out in 1830. The condensation consists in omitting arguments of counsel and such cases as the editor considered unimportant. The dates of the volumes, as now sold, are: Vols. 1 and 2 in one volume, 1830; Vols. 3 and 4, 1853; Vols. 5 and 6, 1812; Vol. 7, "3d edition, revised and corrected," 1853; Vols. 8 and 9, 1854. There seems to have been little or no change from the first edition in any of the volumes except as above noted.

The Appendixes to Wheaton's Reports contain discussions of the "Principles and Practice of Prize Courts" (Vols. 1, 2, 5), and of other subjects (many of them written by Judge Story: see 1 Story's Life, 282), which are not reprinted in Curtis' Decisions.

⁵ Peters's Reports have been several times reprinted, but no notes or changes appear to have been made in any of the different impressions.

As usually found, the set contains sixteen volumes. A seventeenth volume was actually issued, under peculiar circumstances. When Howard was appointed reporter, Mr. Peters, considering the appointment irregular, published Vol. 17 of his series, which covers the same ground as Vol. 1 Howard, though it contains fewer cases. As there is nothing in 17 Peters not included in 1 Howard, except different syllabi and statements of cases, the former has no practical value, and is not considered as one of the series of United States Reports.

Peters was the first official reporter of the Supreme Court. His card, on the fly-leaf of Vols. 1 and 2, solicits practice in the Supreme Court.

In making his first volume Vol. 91 of the set, Mr. Otto has reckoned 1 Dallas as Vol. 1, although it contains no United States cases.

- | | |
| Vol. 1. Dallas 2, 3, 4; Cranch 1, 2, 3. | Vol. 4. Wheaton 2, 3, 4, 5. |
| 2. Cranch 4, 5, 6, 7, 8. | 5. Wheaton 6, 7, 8, 9. |
| 3. Cranch 8, 9; Wheaton 1. | 6. Wheaton 10, 11, 12. |

The first edition was published in 1830; a second edition in 1841; and a third in 1854. There appears to be little or no difference in the editions.

This series contains an abridgment of Dallas, Cranch, and Wheaton, on the same general plan as the subsequent condensation by Curtis. It purports to give all the decisions in full, but in fact dismisses many cases with nothing more than the syllabus. It reprints more liberal extracts from arguments of counsel than Curtis; but the latter covers so much more ground, that Peters' condensation has gone out of use.

¹⁰ Curtis's Decisions contain : —

Vol. 1. Dallas 2, 3, 4; Cranch 1, 2, 3.

2. Cranch 4, 5, 6, 7.

3. Cranch 8, 9; Wheaton 1.

4. Wheaton 2, 3, 4, 5.

5. Wheaton 6, 7, 8.

6. Wheaton 9, 10, 11.

7. Wheaton 12; Peters 1.

8. Peters 2, 3.

9. Peters 4, 5.

10. Peters 6, 7.

11. Peters 8, 9.

Vol. 12. Peters 10, 11, 12.

13. Peters 13, 14.

14. Peters 15, 16; Howard 1.

15. Howard 2, 3.

16. Howard 4, 5, 6.

17. Howard 7, 8.

18. Howard 9, 10, 11.

19. Howard 12, 13.

20. Howard 14, 15.

21. Howard 16, 17.

22. Digest.

This condensation of fifty-seven volumes into twenty-two is obtained, not by abridging the decisions, which are given in full, as in the original reports, but by condensing or omitting the arguments of counsel. Brief notes have been added, referring in the first edition to subsequent cases down to 17 Howard (1854), and in the "fifth edition," now in the market, to 7 Wallace inclusive. There is no difference in the "editions" except in this particular.

¹¹ Miller's Decisions contain : —

Vol. 1. Howard 18, 19.

Vol. 3. Howard 21, 22, 23.

2. Howard 19, 20, 21.

4. Howard 24; Black 1, 2.

These four volumes follow the plan of Curtis' Decisions. The set should not be confounded with the "Miller's Decisions" (see U. S. Circuit Court Reports), reported by Woolworth, and properly cited under the latter's name.

¹² A set of United States Supreme Court Reports may be made up of Curtis's Decisions, Miller's Decisions, and the Reports of Wallace and Otto. The full set of original reports is now collected with difficulty, and brings a high price, on account of the scarcity of many of the earlier volumes; so that the abridgments of Curtis and Miller, prepared by judges of the court, and sanctioned by the full bench, have come into very general use.

The first four volumes, published together in 1867-69, have been continued in supplementary volumes, numbered 5 to 8, and published in 1872, 1874, 1877, and 1880, respectively.

The preface to Vol. 1 (continued by the preface to Vols. 5, 6, 7, and 8) contains a brief but excellent account of the editions, contents, and character of the different federal reports.

¹⁶ These include United States Supreme, Circuit, and District Court cases.

¹⁸ Myer's Index includes the reports through 95 U. S.

² A second edition of Gallison (first edition 1815-1817) was published in 1845, without material changes.

⁵ Paine contains two cases, pp. 601, 639, in the Prize (District) Court. Also, on p. 688, a case from the Fourth Circuit.

THIRD CIRCUIT.

[See also cases in 2, 3, 4 Dallas, in 2 Browne's Pa., in Brewster's Pa., in Brightly's Pa., in the Phila. Reports, the Pa. Law Journal Reports, the Pittsburgh Reports, the Legal Gazette Reports, passim, and in 4 Conn. 333.]

BALDWIN ⁸	1	Bald.	1827-1833
WALLACE, Jr. ⁹	3	Wall. Jr.	1842-1862

⁸ Entitled Vol. 1. No other volume ever published.

The appendix to Vol. 3 contains one case decided in 1829.

¹⁰ Although Peters covers part of the same ground as Washington, no cases are duplicated. The two reports, in fact, form one series, comprising the decisions of Justice Washington. Mr. Peters, who edited all five volumes, says in the preface to that one which bears his name, that he would have preferred to have it omitted from the titlepage, but had been overruled by the judge whose decisions were reported. This overruling appears to have been reversed in the subsequent volumes, which bear Washington's name, while Mr. Peters signs the prefaces. The Pennsylvania cases in Peters come in chronologically between pp. 327 and 328 of Vol. 3 Washington.

FOURTH CIRCUIT.

[See cases between 1793 and 1825, in 6 Call's Va. Reports, pp. 241-376, since reprinted in Wallace and Hughes; cases in Howison's Criminal Trials; one case in 25 Texas, Supplement; also six cases, 1792-1796, in 2 Martin's N. C. Reports (North Carolina was then in the Sixth Circuit), two of which are reprinted in Hughes. See also 2 Paine, 688, and the Pittsburgh Reports.]

CHASE ¹⁴	1	Chase	1865-1869

¹¹ Brockenbrough's Reports are usually entitled, outside, "Marshall's Decisions, by Brockenbrough." They are often cited as "Marshall's Decisions;" but as there are three reporters of that name, the best citation (and the one most in use) is "Brock."

¹² A volume entitled "The Writings of John Marshall, &c., upon the Federal Constitution" (Boston, 1839), was composed entirely of decisions of Chief Justice Marshall, reprinted from the United States Supreme Court Reports. This has been occasionally bound and referred to as "Chief Justice Marshall's Decisions," but should not be confounded with Brockenbrough's Reports.

When Hempstead was published, the district of Arkansas, from which it reports cases, was in the Ninth Circuit. It is now in the Eighth Circuit.

CRANCH ²⁷	6	Cranch C. C.	1801-1840

²⁷ "Cases Civil and Criminal, in the United States Circuit Court of the District of Columbia." A Circuit Court was established in the District by the act of Feb. 13, 1801, with scope and powers equal to those of the other federal Circuit Courts. Although it was practically only a local court, its title, and the custom of years, seem to assign it a place here.

By the act of March, 1863, this court was abolished, and a Supreme Court of the District was established in its place, which ranks rather with the Supreme Courts of the States than with the United States Courts. Its decisions (by MacArthur) will be found catalogued under the title DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA, on p. 20, among the State Reports.

6 Cranch contains nothing but the index and table of cases to the other five volumes.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURTS.¹

[There are several volumes containing decisions of the local United States Courts in the Territories before their organization as States; for instance, McCahon's Kansas Reports, the Arizona, Dakota, Idaho, Montana, New Mexico, Utah, Washington Territory, and Wyoming Reports, and the earlier volumes of the Colorado, Minnesota, and Oregon series. Although these are decisions of what may be called United States Courts, they appear to belong rather among the State Reports, and will be found in their alphabetical place, further on.]

The volume published in this district in 1849, under the name of its reporter, DAVIS, and formerly so cited, has been republished (in 1873), without any changes (except different paging), as 2 Ware, and should be so cited.

A supplement to Vols. 1 and 2 was published, in quarto form, in 1869, containing cases decided previous to the publication of the Bankruptcy Register, and first reported in 6 Internal Revenue Record (1867). This supplement is usually found bound with Vols. 1 and 2 of the original quartos, but it was also bound separately. The cases given in the Supplement were reprinted in the octavo edition of Vol. 1, and are indicated, in the Table of Cases to the latter, by Roman numerals.

What is now Vol. 2 Whitman was published first, apparently complete in itself. Afterwards Vol. 1 was issued, containing cases prior to those in the volume already published, and the copies of the latter, subsequently bound up, were entitled Vol. 2. Wherever one of the original issue is found, without mark as a volume, it may be recognized, therefore, as Vol. 2.

Vol. 2 contains a Table of Cases relating to Patents, Copyrights, and Trade-marks, which have been cited, approved, or overruled.

⁸ Reported by S. S. Fisher. Chiefly printed from manuscript reports, or reprinted from law periodicals.

⁹ Part of a series, which is to include the decisions of the Circuit Courts on patent cases, from Jan. 1, 1874. It thus forms a supplement to Fisher's Cases.

BRIGHTLY'S DIGEST OF UNITED STATES LAWS ⁵	2	Bright. Dig. U.S. Laws	1789-1869

There have been several unofficial digests, and official or unofficial compilations of the United States Laws; — among the latter, those of Bioren and Duane, and of Story, which are much quoted in the earlier American law-books.

"The Public Statutes-at-Large of the United States of America," from the organization of the government in 1789, to March, 1845, arranged in chronological order, "with copious references and notes by Richard Peters," were published under the sanction of Congress in 1845-46. There were then eight volumes of the series: Vols. 1 to 5 comprising Public Laws; Vol. 6, Private Laws; Vol. 7, Indian Treaties; Vol. 8, Foreign Treaties and Index.

Since 1845, volumes have been added from time to time, Vol. 21 being the last one published. A "Synoptical Index to the Laws and Treaties of the United States of America" was published in 1850, comprising Vols. 1 to 9 of the Statutes-at-Large, and Vols. 1 to 10 of Bioren and Duane's edition.

³ Prepared and edited by Wm. A. Richardson.

⁶ The United States Digest, original edition, comprised a series of 29 volumes, mainly "annuals," edited by various hands; and two volumes of Equity Digest (which contained all Equity Cases prior to 1847, later cases being included in the "annuals"). In the present edition, the contents of the 31 volumes, with additional cases omitted in the first issue, have been alphabetically rearranged into one series of 14 volumes, which purport to give the syllabus of every case decided in the Federal or State Courts from the earliest period of American reporting down to the 1st of January, 1870. Vol. 15 is a Table of Cases to the preceding 14 volumes. It is sometimes found without the volume-number, being lettered "United States Digest, Table of Cases."

The First Series was edited by Benj. Vaughan Abbott.

⁸ This Digest, though edited by Abbott, should not be cited by his name, nor confounded with "Abbott's National Digest." See p. 8.

² MINOR was at first entitled "Alabama Reports, Vol. 1," and is so cited in early books, and often so labelled. But as the designation "New Series" at first applied to the reports commencing in 1840, has been dropped, the proper citation of this volume is MINOR. "Vol. 1" remains upon the titlepage. No other volume was issued by this reporter.

Vols. 1-11, The Judges.	Vols. 49-51, Shepherd.
12-15, Ormond.	52-57, Jones (T. G.).
16-18, Cocke.	58, Clark.
19-21, Shepherd.	59, Sanford.
22, 23, The Judges.	60, Shepherd.
24-41, Shepherd.	61, 62, Jones (T. G.).
43-48, Jones (T. G.).

⁷ Brickell's Digest comprises all the reports from Minor to Vol. 43 Alabama, inclusive. Vol. 3, to include 65 Ala., is now in press.

The early reports were at first entitled and cited by the name of the reporters, especially English, which will be found cited in early books as "ENGLISH, 1-8." All sets of the reports of late years, however, have been bound up and entitled "Arkansas Reports," from Vol. 1 to Vol. 37, and should be so cited.

REVISION OF SWIFT'S DIGEST ¹² . . .	2	Swift's Conn. Dig.	1853

² Kirby and Root report mainly cases from the Superior Court, with a few from the Supreme Court of Errors. Day and subsequent volumes contain only cases from the Supreme Court of Errors.

Vols. 1-21, Day.

Vols. 25-48, Hooker.

22-24, Matson.

⁷ A second edition of Vols. 1 to 6 Conn., by the reporter, was published in 1848-49; and a second edition of Vols. 7 to 21 inclusive, with notes by Thomas M. Day, appeared in 1853-56. The notes to this second edition are numerous, and contain references, not only to the Connecticut series, but also to the Mass. and New York reports. A "second edition" of Vols. 22 to 35 has also been published, but differs very little from the originals.

The second edition of Vol. 1 has a preface describing the growth of the judicial system of Connecticut.

⁸ Vols. 6 to 11 Conn., in the first edition, were called on their titlepages, — and in some old bindings are entitled also outside, Vols. 1 to 6, respectively, "Second Series." Why they should be so called does not appear from the volumes themselves, as they were issued by the same reporter (Day) who had edited Vols. 1 to 5. Vol. 22 has on its title-page, "Vol. 1, New Series," marking a change of reporters. No such distinctions are now observed in binding or citing these volumes.

¹⁰ Sharswood's Table of Cases comes down to and includes 48 Conn.

¹² This work has been prized beyond most treatises on local statutes, because it contains a careful statement of the Common Law of England as far as it was in force in America after the Declaration of Independence. The author, Hon. Zephaniah Swift, published in 1795-96 "A System of the Laws of the State of Connecticut. In Six Books." 2 vols. 12mo. In 1822-23 he published the first edition of the "Digest of the Laws of Connecticut."

The second edition (Vol. 1, 1849, Vol. 2, 1858; though both volumes are often dated 1858), prepared by Henry Dutton and N. A. Cowdrey, was amplified into two large octavo volumes, and entitled "A Revision of Swift's Digest of the Laws of Connecticut."

Vols. 1-3, Kelly.

4, 5, Kelly & Cobb.

6-20, Cobb.

21-30, Martin.

31-33 and Supplement to 33, Lester.

Vols. 34, 35, Bleckley.

36-44, Hammond.

45, Hammond & Jackson.

59-65, Jackson & Lumpkin.

⁸ Vol. 35 contains a table of cases reported in the first thirty-one volumes of the series; and also about eighty pages of decisions of Hon. John Erskine, in the United States Circuit and District Courts of Georgia.

⁹ Bacon's Digest includes Georgia, Vols. 1 to 40; Harris's includes Vols. 41 to 50; Jackson's Index, Vols. 1 to 40; Harris's Index, Vols. 40 to 60; Heyward's Table of Cases, Vols. 1 to 62.

¹⁰ The "Revised Code" of Georgia was published in 1873. A Supplement (now usually bound up with the Code in one volume) brings it down to 1878. The legislature has provided for another revision of the Code, to be published in 1882.

Vol. 1, Breese.

2-5, Scammon (Vols. 1-4).

6-10, Gilman (Vols. 1-5).

Vols. 11-30, Peck.

31-103, Freeman.

² Breese's Reports (first edition, 1831) were republished in 1861, with additional notes by Edwin Beecher. Cases which were printed in an appendix, separately paged, to the first edition, are arranged in Beecher's edition in their proper places through the body of the volume. So many notes have been added, and so many excellent changes have been made, that "Beecher's Breese," as it is commonly called, is considered very much superior to the original publication.

The weekly Northwestern Reporter commenced in 1890 the publication of an "Illinois Supplement," to give all the Illinois cases, but discontinued it with No. 2 of Vol. 2.

⁴ The first edition of 1 Scammon was destroyed by fire (1840) in the hands of the binder. The "Second Edition" appeared in 1841.

⁵ In 1862 Vol. 1 of Condensed Illinois Reports, by Robert S. Blackwell, was published in Chicago. It comprised the cases in Breese and in 1 and 2 Scammon. The profession has so great a distrust of condensations of reports, however, that the publication was unsuccessful, and no more volumes were issued.

A new edition of Vol. 1 and Vols. 19 to 46 is now in course of publication, with notes by Messrs. Bailey, North, Denslow, and M. D. Ewell.

These three pamphlets, when bound together, have been known in Iowa as "Bradford's Reports." All their cases, but one, are reprinted in the second (Miller's) edition of Morris.

² McCahon is a volume of cases in the Territorial (U. S. District) courts. It includes also cases from the U. S. Circuit Courts from 1863 to 1868. The preface gives the judicial history of the Territory of Kansas.

Vols. 1-5, Banks.

Vols. 21-27, Randolph.

6-20, Webb.

⁴ Kansas has been reprinted. The reprint includes also the Territorial cases in McCahon.

⁵ Dassler digests McCahon and Vols. 1 to 21 Kansas, as well as the Kansas cases in Woolworth and the first four volumes of Dillon's U. S. Circuit Court Reports.

sions of the "Supreme Court for the District of Kentucky" 1785-1792, and of the Supreme Court of the State, 1793-1801.

⁴ A second edition of Bibb was published in 1840, with apparently no changes, additions, or notes.

⁶ The preface to 1 Littell contains the following note: —

(An early act of Kentucky provides that) "All reports and books containing adjudged cases in the Kingdom of Great Britain, which decisions have taken place since the 4th of July, 1776, shall not be read nor considered as authority in any of the courts of this commonwealth, any usage or custom to the contrary notwithstanding."

"It is not perceived how a lawyer could violate this act, except by reading in one argument, or at least in one cause, all the cases adjudged in all the English courts since 1776; a crime which, it is believed, no lawyer would commit if he could, or could if he would!"

⁸ The full title of this volume is, "Cases selected from the Decisions of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky, not heretofore reported. By William Littell."

¹⁰ Most of the volumes of B. Monroe have been reprinted without change.

VOORHIES' REVISED STATUTES . . . 1 Voor. La. Stat. 1876 1876

² Vol. 1 and most of Vol. 2 of Martin's Reports (First Series) comprise decisions in the Territorial courts, prior to the admission of Louisiana to the Union as a State. These volumes (which are usually bound together) are called on their titlepages "Orleans Term Reports," and are so cited in early American law books. Vol. 3 is entitled "Louisiana Term Reports," &c., "by F. X. Martin, Vol. 1, being Vol. 3 of this reporter;" and Vols. 4 to 12 are similarly entitled. The titlepages to the New Series read "Louisiana Term Reports," &c., "by F. X. Martin, New Series, Vol. 1," and so on. They are all bound up (of late years) as Martin's Reports.

Vols. 1-5, Miller.

Vols. 6-19, Curry.

Miller was the first official reporter of Louisiana.

⁶ The preface to 1 Robinson states that an enactment of the legislature providing for the omission from the reports of unimportant decisions, to be designated by the judges, was practically nullified by the refusal of the judges to designate decisions to be omitted.

Vols. 1-4, Robinson.

Vols. 19-24, Hawkins.

5, 6, King.

25-28, Gayarré.

7-11, Randolph.

29-31, Roberts.

12-15, Ogden.

32, 33 Denis.

16-18, Glenn.

The Louisiana Annual Reports commence with the reorganization of the Supreme Court under the Constitution of 1845.

⁸ Vol. 14 Louisiana Annual has been republished without changes. Vol. 30 is bound in two parts, on account of its unusual size.

⁹ Only three parts of this volume have been issued.

¹¹ Louque's Digest includes 15 to 30 Louisiana Annual Reports.

² The reporters are:—

Vols. 1-9, Greenleaf.	Vols. 41, 42, Adams.
10-12, Fairfield.	43, 44, Ludden.
13-18, Shepley.	45-51, Hubbard.
19, Appleton.	52-60, Virgin.
20, Appleton & Shepley.	61-64, Smith (Edw. B.).
21-30, Shepley.	65-68, Pulsifer.
31-35, Redington.	69, 70, Hastings.
36-40, Heath.	71-73, Spaulding.

³ Vols. 1 to 9 Maine were published as Greenleaf's Reports, and are so cited in most of the books. Fairfield and some of Shepley's volumes are also generally cited in the earlier books by the reporters' names. The whole series, as now bound, is entitled "Maine Reports" on the upper label, with the reporter's name and number of volume on the lower label. The citation "Me." is here recommended for all the volumes, on the score of uniformity.

⁷ A new revision of the Statutes is in progress.

¹ Entitled, and often labelled, originally, "Maryland Reports," but now always bound and cited by the names of the reporters. The titlepage of Vol. 1 reads "Maryland Reports, being a series," &c., "of cases in the Provincial Court and Court of Appeals of the then Province of Maryland from 1700 down to the American Revolution." The cases actually commence with 1658. Although covering such early dates, this volume was not published until 1809. The other volumes contain State decisions.

* Vols. 8 and 9 were "completed by Oliver Miller."

* The reporters of the Maryland Reports proper are:—

Vols. 1, 2, Magruder.

Vols. 19-26, Brewer.

8-18, Miller.

27-57, Stockett.

* "The Index to Vol. 1 being considered imperfect," the reporter, at the request of the court, published with Vol. 2 a "Supplemental Index to Vol. 1."

* The reporters of the Maryland Chancery are:—

Vol. 1, Thomas and Franklin.

Vols. 3, 4, Miller.

2, Hagner and Miller.

James Wingate, the publisher, signed the prefaces to all the volumes.

PUBLIC STATUTES	1	Mass. Pub. Stat.	1882 1882

² "The Militia Reporter," containing the reports of four trials by court-martial, between the years 1805 and 1810, was published in Boston in 1810. It belongs under the head of Trials rather than Reports.

Hoffman, in his "Course of Legal Study," mentions "Whitman's Massachusetts Libel Cases, 1828." These were pamphlet reports of decisions bound up to form a volume. They properly rank among Trials.

In 1837 a little volume was published, entitled "Selections from the Court Reports originally published in the Boston Morning Post." It is anonymous, but is said to have been written by Thomas Gill. Like "Skillman's New York Police Reports," it is a burlesque report of actual cases in the courts.

² Neither Quincy nor Thatcher is included in the official numbering of the reports.

⁵ Sometimes bound and cited in early books as "Tyng's Reports." Vol. 1 was reported by Williams, Vols. 2 to 17 by Tyng.

A new edition of these seventeen volumes, edited and annotated by Rand, was published in 1837-44. This appears to have been the fourth edition of Vol. 1 (first edition 1805; second, "with a few notes," 1816; third, 1821) and the second or third edition of the other volumes.

⁶ Vol. 2 Mass., in an appendix, gives cases from 1786 to 1806.

Vols. 97-109, Browne.

Vols. 112-114, Browne.

110, 111, Browne & Gray.

115-181, Lathrop.

[It should be said that Vols. 110, 111 were prepared by John C. Gray, Jr., and Vols. 112-114, though issued in Browne's name, were actually reported by N. St. J. Green.]

¹¹ "Reports of Criminal Cases in the Municipal Court of Boston." It contains decisions of Judge Thatcher, edited by Horatio Woodman.

¹³ Williams' Citations includes the reports from Quincy to 122 Mass.

The latter volume seems to be only a reprint. Other volumes are to be reprinted, with notes.

³ The reporters are:—

Vol. 1, Manning.	Vols. 14-18, Jennison.
2-4, Gibbs.	19-22, Clarke.
5-12, Cooley.	23-36, Post.
13, Meddaugh.	37-47, Chaney.

⁴ The preface to Vol. 4 contains a sketch of the judicial system and the judiciary of Michigan Territory.

their cases were reprinted without change in Vol. 1 of the regular series. John B. Brisbin reported the cases at the January term, 1854; but his reports were never published until they were included by Michael E. Ames, and his successor, Harvey Officer, in 1 Minnesota. This volume comprises Territorial decisions only.

⁵ By M. D. Ewell and A. Hamilton, covering Vols. 1 to 26 Minn.

⁴ The reporters are:—

Vols. 23-29, Cushman (Vols. 1-7).	Vols. 43-48, Morris.
30-39, George (Vols. 1-10).	49-52, Harris & Simrall.
40-42, Reynolds.	53-59, Brown & Hemingway.*

Cushman and George have been generally cited by the reporters' names. So, to some extent, Reynolds. But as the volumes are now always bound and entitled "Miss.," that

* So on the labels of all these volumes. Vol. 58 was apparently reported by both Brown and Hemingway. Vols. 54, 57, 59 bear also both names on the titlepage, but a note on p. iv states that they were reported by Brown alone. Vols. 55, 56, and 58 have only Hemingway's name on the titlepage. Though joint reporters, they appear to divide the work.

citation, now common, is recommended from Vol. 23 to the end. In George's Digest, however, the reports are cited by the reporters' names, to and including George.

Some sets of the reports have been recently bound up as Mississippi Reports, from Vol. 1 to Vol. 59, with the reporters' names on lower labels. There seems to be no tendency, however, toward citing the first 23 volumes by the name of the State.

⁶ Decisions of Chancellor Buckner. Entitled Vol. 1. No other volumes were issued.

⁷ Entitled Vol. 1. No other volumes were issued.

The titlepage to Vol. 31 gives no reporters' names. The preface specifies them.

² Vols. 1, 2, 3 were published under the direction of the successive Secretaries of State, McBride and Edwards. By whom they were reported is not stated. In 1843 the three volumes were republished by the Attorney-General (S. M. Bay) under direction of the legislature, and were bound together in one volume with a common index.

In 1870-72 the first fifteen volumes were republished by private enterprise, with notes and references to later decisions by Louis Houck. This reprint is inferior, typographically, to the originals.

Many of the later volumes have recently been republished, without notes, and in inferior style.

GENERAL LAWS ⁹	1	N. H. Gen. Laws	1878 1878

Vol. 1, Adams.	Vols. 21-31, Foster.
2, Richardson & Woodbury.	32-37, Fogg.
3-5, Anonymous.	38-44, Chandler.
6, "Published by" Benjamin B. French.	45-48, Hadley.
7-18, Anonymous.	49-55, Shirley.
19, Foster.	56, 57, Hall.
20, Chandler.

Marvin's Legal Bibliography states that Chief Justice W. M. Richardson reported Vols. 3 to 5, but his name does not appear on the titlepage. A note on the reverse of the titlepage of the original edition of Vol. 20, referring to Judge Parker, when taken in connection with Marvin's statement, would indicate that Vols. 3 to 18 were reported, or at least edited, by the Chief Justices (Vols. 3 to 9, W. M. Richardson, Vol. 10 to 18, Joel Parker). Vols. 16 to 18 were published later than Vols. 21-42, and Vol. 19 later than Vols. 21-28, on account of some difficulty about State aid. A "Reporter's Note," prefixed to Vol. 49, gives some interesting particulars on these points. See also a similar note in Vol. 55.

The reason for this unusual delay may perhaps be found in a change in the method of reporting. A law passed in 1876 provides that "the opinions of the court, briefly expressed, shall be furnished to the reporter," &c. The New Hampshire decisions up to that time had not been famous for brevity; but the judges have complied so thoroughly with the letter of this clause that they have gone to the other extreme. The syllabus of one case, already published in the advanced sheets of Vol. 58, is precisely the same as the opinion itself. Condensation could hardly go further.

⁶ Under a law of 1877 the judges are to deliver to a "council of law reporting," consisting of ten members of the bar elected by a convention of the County Bar Associations, all decisions the publication of which the court considers of doubtful necessity; and the Council are to determine which of them are not of sufficient importance to justify the expense of publication. The practical operation of this law is, however, that the judges are forced to report all the decisions.

⁸ Morrison's Digest includes Vols. 1 to 45 of the reports and part of Vol. 46.

REVISION OF STATUTES	1	N. J. Stat. 1877	To 1877

² The set of New Jersey Reports, as now printed, comprises: —

All the late reprints were made under authority of an act of the legislature. The essential difference, editorially, between the new editions and the originals is in the terse notes printed at the end of each case, showing where it has been cited or criticised, and where a statute or act of the legislature that has been construed may be found. The reprints are also supplied with tables of cases cited. The first editions contained only a list of the cases reported. In reprinting, the original paging has been retained.

The new editions are much superior to the originals both in contents and typography.

⁵ Until 1844 the decisions of the Court of Appeal (which consisted of the Governor and Council) were not reported. Under the constitution of 1844 a Court of Errors and Appeals was constituted, whose decisions, in cases at law, are reported in the Law Reports, from 1 Zabriskie down, and in cases on appeal from courts of chancery, in the Equity Reports from 1 Halsted Eq. down. See 1 Zab. 554, and 1 Halst. Eq. 523.

⁵ The original edition of Coxe was entitled Vol. 1. No other volumes were issued.

⁷ Halsted's Law Reports were by William Halsted, Jr.; Halsted's Equity Reports, by G. B. Halsted.

⁹ The cases in 1 Zabriskie from the Court of Errors and Appeals begin with 1845.

¹² The titlepage of the first edition of Saxton reads "Part I." No second volume was ever issued.

¹⁵ Stewart's reports contain many valuable footnotes by the reporter.

² The reports under the heads of "Supreme Court and Court of Errors" and "Chancery" were published while the common-law practice prevailed. With the New York Court of Appeals the "Code Decisions" begin.

A note, ninety pages long, in Vol. 2 (p. 217), discusses the law of mandamus.

⁷ Caines' Reports contain decisions of the Supreme Court; Caines' Cases, decisions in the "Court for the Trial of Impeachments and the Correction of Errors."

¹² Of Wendell, Vols. 10, 11, and 21 to 26, inclusive, there has been apparently only one edition. In 1873 a second edition was published of Vols. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 8, and 9, with notes by an anonymous editor; of Vols. 6, 18, 19, and 20, by Thomas W. Waterman; of Vol. 7, by Robert Johnstone; and of Vols. 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, and 17, by John J. Cole.

¹⁴ This is a Supplement to Hill & Denio, consisting of decisions intentionally or accidentally omitted by those reporters.

The usual citation appears to be "Hill & Den. Supp." But as Lalor is shorter and more distinctive, it is here recommended.

¹⁵ The reporters of the New York Court of Appeals Reports are:—

Vols. 1-4, Comstock (1-4).

Vols. 28-39, Tiffany (1-12).

5-10, Selden (1-6).

40-45, Hand (1-6).

11-14, Kernan (1-4).

15-27, E. P. Smith (1-13).

Comstock, Selden, and Kernan were originally published, entitled, and cited under the reporters' names (except 6 Selden and 4 Kernan, which were published out of course), and later volumes have been similarly cited in New York. Sets of Court of Appeals Reports are now, however, bound and entitled uniformly from 1 to 88, and should apparently be so cited, although Vols. 1-4 are still very generally cited as Comstock.

¹⁶ A reprint of 1 and 2 Comstock, in fine type and bound together in one volume without notes, was issued at St. Clairsville, O., in 1851.

A second edition of 2 Comstock, with notes by Abraham W. Lewis, was published in 1850, the year of publication of the original edition.

In 1880-1881 Vols. 5 to 11 and 28-37, inclusive, were reprinted, with notes by F. C. Brightly.

¹⁸ Keyes' Reports (sometimes entitled Vols. 40*, 41*, 42*, and 43* N. Y. Reports) were published by private enterprise. They contain cases not reported in the regular series; but Mr. Abbott, in the preface to the "Court of Appeals Decisions," states that Keyes reported incorrectly, and that he has consequently reprinted the cases of the latter in more authentic form.

¹⁹ Abbott's Court of Appeals Decisions purport to contain cases unreported in the regular series, or imperfectly or incorrectly reported in Keyes or the "Transcript Appeals." It may be observed of the New York Reports, that the same case is frequently reported in several different series.

²⁰ This volume is a collection of brief notes or memoranda, by the reporter, of cases which are nearly all reported at length in Vols. 7, 8, and 9 New York Reports (Selden 3, 4, 5). It has passed to a second edition (1878), for what reason the book itself does not explain. The original publication was in parts, paged separately. The second edition is paged consecutively as a volume.

²³ The Vice-Chancellors' decisions were subject to revision by the Chancellor; the Chancellor's decisions, to revision by the Court of Errors.

Mr. Moak mentions "Lansing's Chancery Reports," containing in 18 pages, four cases, 1824-1826. He states, however, that he only knows of one copy in existence.

²⁴ The first edition of Johnson's Chancery Reports was dated 1816-1824. A second edition was published in Philadelphia in 1835; and another "revised and corrected" second edition was published in 1836-1837.

An exact reprint, in substance, of the first edition, was published at St. Clairville, O., in 1849-1850; but by the use of fine type, in double columns, the seven volumes were compressed, in this edition, into three.

Vol. 7 contains (separately paged) a "General Digested Index" of the cases decided in the Court of Chancery and in the Court of Errors, on Appeal, from 1799 to 1822.

²⁶ A second edition of Paige, Vols. 1 to 6, without notes, was published 1839-1844.

²⁷ Notes of Chancery Cases under the title "Chancery Sentinel," published as a supplement to the Saratoga Sentinel. The early numbers are entitled "Abstract of the Decisions of the Chancellor." The six volumes are bound as one volume.

Vol. 1 contains 12 numbers, comprising 89 pages, Feb. 1, 1841, to Jan. 22, 1842.

2	"	11	"	"	74	"	Feb. 1, 1842, to Jan. 23, 1843.
3	"	10	"	"	109	"	Feb. 21, 1843, to Jan. 16, 1844.
4	"	11	"	"	85	"	March 5, 1844, to March 4, 1845.
5	"	9	"	"	74	"	April 1, 1845, to March 5, 1846.
6	"	10	"	"	79	"	April 7, 1846, to May 24, 1847.

A "third edition" of the series, with notes by Thomas W. Waterman, was published in 1875.

²⁹ Hoffman was entitled Vol. 1; but no other volume was published.

A second edition of Hoffman's Chancery, with notes by Thomas W. Waterman, was published in 1853; and a third edition, with notes by the same editor, in 1874.

³⁰ Clarke was entitled Vol. 1, but no other volume appeared. A new edition was published in 1869, with valuable notes by N. C. Moak.

³¹ The preface to Vol. 1 of Sandford's Chancery Reports contains a brief sketch of the New York Chancery System.

In 1871-1876 a reprint was published of Vol. 1 Sandford's Chancery, and a new edition of Vols. 2, 3, 4, with notes by Daniel Ketchum.

³² It is well understood that the present "Supreme Court" of New York is not, as in most other States, the court of last resort, but an intermediate court, having both original and appellate jurisdiction, and whose decisions are subject to revision by the Court of Appeals. The preface to 1 Barbour defines the organization and province of the "Supreme Court" created by the Constitution of 1847. Vol. 67 contains a table of cases reported in this series, and subsequently affirmed or overruled.

³⁴ Thompson & Cook's Reports are entitled "New York Supreme Court Reports," sometimes 8 to 13 (continuous with Lansing), and sometimes 1 to 6. The series ended with Vol. 6. They cover about the same period and nearly the same cases as Hun; and as they were published by private enterprise, would best be cited by the reporters' names (Th. & C., 1-6).

³⁶ A second edition of Vols. 1 and 2 Sandford (first edition 1848, 1850) was published in 1856, 1857, with notes by Thomas W. Waterman.

³⁹ The preface to 1 E. D. Smith explains the scope of the court.

The original Coleman's Cases was entitled "Cases of Practice, adjudged in the Supreme Court; 1791-1800." The cases actually begin in 1794.

Coleman & Caines' Cases are usually given among the Law Reports, or old Supreme Court Reports; but as they include only practice cases they seem rather to belong here.

⁴¹ Howard's Practice Reports commenced before the adoption of the Code, so that the first three volumes are on questions of common-law practice. The original title of these volumes was "New York Special Term Reports."

Vols. 1 and 2 are so thin that they are usually bound together.

⁴² Vols. 1-51 of Howard's Practice Reports were reported by Nathan Howard, Jr.; Vols. 52-63, by R. M. Stover.

⁶⁶ This volume (entitled "Code Reports, New Series, Vol. 1") was apparently intended to begin a series. No further volumes, however, were issued.

⁶⁷ The first series, and Vols. 1 to 7 of the New Series of Abbotts' Practice Reports, were edited by the Abbott Brothers; Vols. 8-16 New Series, and Abbott's New Cases, were edited by Austin Abbott alone.

⁶⁸ Edited partly by F. K. Clark and George D. McCarty; partly by McCarty alone.

⁶¹ Wheeler's Reports are usually placed in the list of New York Reports, although they include decisions of other States as well as of New York. The first volume, whose running title is "The Criminal Recorder," is almost entirely confined, as the titlepage indicates, to cases decided at the New York City Hall; but in the second volume the author states his intention to make the series a complete collection of American State Trials. The preface to the second volume contains a lengthy "View of the Criminal Laws of our Country" (1824).

The second and third volumes contain a large number of cases decided in United States Circuit and District Courts.

⁶² "Decisions in Criminal Cases made at Term, at Chambers, and in the Courts of Oyer and Terminer of the State of New York."

⁶⁵ Bradford and Tucker report decisions delivered in the County of New York; Redfield reports cases from the whole State.

⁶⁶ Tucker intervenes in point of time between 1 and 2 Redfield.

⁶⁰ Lockwood presents only a selection and synopsis of cases already published in the regular reports.

⁶² Containing abstracts of cases decided in the Court of Appeals. Commenced in December, 1881. To be published in monthly numbers.

⁶⁴ Vols. 1 and 2 were published together in 1875. Vol. 3 is supplementary.

⁶⁷ Table of New York Cases affirmed, reversed, or cited, in the New York Reports. Vol. 1 comes down to 1872; Vol. 2 is supplementary.

⁶⁸ Vols. 1 to 3, edited by M. H. Throop, contain the general statutes in force in 1881.

Vol. 4 contains the three codes (Civil Procedure, Criminal Procedure, and Penal).

⁶⁹ Vol. 1, containing sections 1-13 of the Code of Civil Procedure, was published in 1877 (with addenda in 1878-1879); Vol. 2, covering sections 14 to 22, in 1880. The notes are very full, including a complete digest of the decisions applicable to each section of the code.

BATTLE'S REVISAL OF STATUTES ²¹	1	Bat. N. C. Stat. 1873	To 1873

Haywood, Vol. 1, alone.	Taylor	} in 1 vol.
Martin, both parts	Conference
Haywood, Vol. 2	Law Repository	} in 1 vol.
	N. C. Term Reports

A condensation was effected, in this edition, by omitting arguments of counsel and some cases which were duplicated in volumes covering the same period.

³ This little volume, entitled "Notes of a few Decisions in the Superior Courts of the State of North Carolina and in the Circuit Court of the United States for North Carolina District," was edited and published by F. X. Martin, who afterwards reported cases in Louisiana. The State cases (1778-1797) comprise 78 pages, and the United States cases (1792-1796) follow with a separate paging, 1 to 83 (77 pages being given to one case). A common index includes both parts.

The preface states that the publisher was about to put to press a further "Collection of Cases in the North Carolina Courts," which, however, never appeared.

⁴ A second edition of 1 Haywood, with notes by W. H. Battle, was published in 1832.

Both parts of Martin's Reports were republished in 1843, together with 2 Haywood, in one volume, with notes by W. H. Battle.

⁵ Haywood, Vols. 1 and 2, are North Carolina Reports; Vols. 3, 4, and 5, Tennessee Reports. This is the only instance where a reporter has commenced a series in one State and finished it in another. It should be borne in mind that the State of Tennessee was originally a part of North Carolina.

⁶ Vol. 2 Haywood contains a number of decisions in the United States Circuit Court, delivered chiefly by Judge Marshall, 1802-1805.

In some early bindings there seems to have been confusion among Taylor's Reports proper, and the Law Repository and the Term Reports which he edited.

⁸ The Conference Reports (so called because they were decided in conference of all the Superior Court judges before the establishment of the Supreme Court) were reported by Cameron & Norwood, and were originally entitled, and often cited, by the reporters' names. A second edition, bound in one volume with Taylor, was edited by W. H. Battle and published in 1844.

⁹ The Carolina Law Repository (edited by Chief Justice Taylor, 1811-1816) was a magazine containing not only decisions of the North Carolina courts, but also other miscellaneous legal matter. In the second edition, only the North Carolina decisions were reprinted. The Repository and the N. C. Term Reports were bound together in the second edition (W. H. Battle, 1844).

The first edition contains many United States Circuit and District Court cases.

¹⁰ The titlepage reads, "Cases adjudged in the Supreme Court of North Carolina, from July Term, 1816, to January Term, 1818. By J. L. Taylor, Chief Justice." The outside is labelled, "North Carolina Term Reports." First edition, 1818. This volume may be distinguished from Taylor's Reports by its date. Republished in 1844 in the same volume with the Law Repository, with notes by W. H. Battle.

¹² The reporter states in a note that Vol. 1 was partially reported by George E. Badger.

¹⁴ 1 Iredell's Law and 1 Iredell's Equity were partially reported by W. H. Battle.

Another volume (usually cited as Winston's Equity), having a common table of cases and index, contains Winston's Equity (111 pages) and Winston's Law, Vol. 1, No. 2 (167 pages), paged separately. The latter part is cited as 2 Winst. Law.

All four of these parts were reprinted, in one volume in 1878. In this edition, the briefs of counsel are omitted, and some notes are added, by J. W. Hinesdale.

Vols. 63, 64, Phillips.

Vols. 68-75, Hargrove.

65, McCorkle.

76-86, Kenan.

66, 67, Shipp.

¹⁸ Two cases decided in the United States Circuit Court for the North Carolina District, in 1871, are printed in an appendix to 65 N. C.

¹⁹ A second edition of Devereux & Battle's Equity Reports, without material changes, was published in 1860.

The "Fifth N. C. Digest," by W. H. Bailey, is supplemental, and covers 71-79 N. C.

Tourgee's Digest of Cited Cases comes down to and includes 79 N. C.

Busbee's Criminal Digest comes down to 81 N. C., inclusive.

²¹ Commissioners were appointed, under an act of March 1, 1881, to prepare a new revision of the public laws.

¹ Ohio cases, not elsewhere published, may be found in the bound volumes of the law magazines published in Ohio.

² The early editions of the Ohio Reports were sometimes bound and cited by the reporters' names. For a long time, however, the bindings and citations have been as given above.

³ The reporters of the Ohio Reports are : —

Vols. 1-9, Hammond.

Vols. 14-19, Griswold.

11-18, Stanton.

⁵ Owing to the death of the reporter, only one part of 9 Ohio was published.

⁷ In 1832-1840, Wilcox published a "Condensed" edition of Vols. 1 to 7 Ohio (Vols. 1, 2, 3, 4 in one, and Vols. 6 and 7 in one), omitting the arguments and citations of counsel. In 1833 the reporter Hammond published a condensed edition of Vols. 1 and 2 bound as one volume. These editions have not found permanent favor.

⁸ An exact reprint of the Ohio and Ohio State Reports was published in 1872-73, without notes.

Vol. 1, McCook.

Vols. 5-21, Critchfield.

2, 4, Warden.

22, 23, Granger.

3, Warden & Smith.

24-37, De Witt.

¹⁰ Vols. 1, 2, and 3 Ohio State Reports are found in early bindings incorrectly numbered Vols. 21, 22, and 23 Ohio.

¹¹ This series is entitled, according to law, "Ohio State Reports," but the titlepages read "Reports," &c., "in the Supreme Court of Ohio. New Series." Vol. 1 marks a change in the scope and personnel of the court, under the constitution of 1851. Its preface describes the old and new systems of courts in Ohio.

¹⁵ "Reports of Cases in the Superior Court of Cincinnati" were published in parts by the reporters (R. D. & J. H. Handy), who were obliged to suspend publication in the middle of the second volume, which therefore includes only 288 pages, without title or index. A new edition, two volumes in one, with notes by Lewis E. Mills, was published in 1877.

¹⁶ Cases decided in the Superior Court of Cincinnati. The preface states that the preparation of Vol. 1 was commenced by Hon. Stanley Matthews.

¹⁷ The Cincinnati Superior Court Reporter was edited, Vol. 1 by Charles P. Taft and Bellamy Storer, Jr.; Vol. 2 by Charles P. and Peter R. Taft.

¹⁸ McVey's Digest comes down to Ohio St. 36.

²⁰ Statutes in force Jan. 1, 1880. Compiled by M. A. Dougherty, John S. Brasee, and George B. Okey, Commissioners. Published in 1879, but labelled 1880. The preface describes the successive revisions of Ohio laws.

² The reporters are:—

Vols. 1-3, J. G. Wilson.

Vols. 4-8, C. B. Bellinger.

⁴ Pages 1-414 of Vol. 8, report Circuit Court cases; pages 415-585, Supreme Court cases.

⁵ Compiled by Matthew P. Deady and Lafayette Lane. Published in 1874, although it comes down only to 1872.

This compilation is divided into the Code of Civil Procedure (Civ. Code); the Criminal Code (Crim. Code); Civil and Criminal Proceedings in Justices' Courts (Jus. Code); and Miscellaneous Laws, arranged in chapters. The three codes are usually cited in Oregon as indicated in parentheses.

² Already catalogued under the head of United States Supreme Court Reports. See p. 3, text, and notes 1 and 2.

Dallas reported cases from the inferior State courts and from the United States Courts, sitting in Philadelphia, as well as from the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. Vol. 1 is entitled "Reports of Cases ruled and adjudged in the Courts of Pennsylvania, before and since the Revolution." This volume contains only State cases. Vols. 2, 3, and 4 are entitled "Reports," &c., "in the Several Courts of the United States and of Pennsylvania, held at the Seat of the Federal Government" (which was at that time Philadelphia). Vol. 4 contains also a few cases decided in the Court of Errors and Appeals of Delaware.

The volumes of Yeates were published in 1817-1819, after the publication of Binney, and were intended to fill the gap between Dallas and Binney. Though the years overlap, apparently no cases are duplicated, except from Dallas as noted above.

A reprint of Yeates was published in inferior style, in 1871, with a few notes by William Duane.

An Appendix to Vol. 3 contains the report of the judges of the Supreme Court to the legislature, December, 1808, enumerating the English statutes then in force in Pennsylvania.

⁷ Often styled "Brightly's Nisi Prius Reports." The title reads, "Cases decided by the Judges of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, in the Court of Nisi Prius at Philadelphia, and also in the Supreme Court." Pages 269-488 contain decisions of the Supreme Court, 1813-51, the rest of the volume giving Nisi Prius decisions. A note (pages 347-411) gives a United States Circuit Court case, 1893, not elsewhere reported. Another note, p. 19, gives a charge of Judge Washington to a United States jury in 1809.

⁹ A second (and improved) edition of Rawle, with notes by W. W. Wistar, Jun., was published in 1869.

The greater portion of 5 Rawle was reported by Peter McCall.

The titlepage to Vol. 1 bears the name of William Rawle, Jun., as well as Penrose & Watts; but the preface to Brightly's Digest states that Rawle reported none of the cases in the volume.

A second edition, without notes or changes, was published in 1843; a third edition in 1880-1881, with notes by I. Tyson Morris.

¹¹ A second edition of Watts, with notes by W. W. Wistar, was published 1879-1882.

¹² A second (and improved) edition of Wharton appeared in 1870, with notes by John Sword.

¹⁴ The reporters of the Pennsylvania State Reports are: —

Vols. 1-10, Barr (1-10).

11, J. P. Jones (1 Jones).

51-81½, P. F. Smith (1-32).

25-36, Casey (1-12).

In 1881 there was published a Vol. 82 of P. F. Smith, entitled 81½ (on the back, 81*) Pennsylvania State Reports, containing cases 1870-1876.

The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania cites the State reports by the reporters' names; but in the other States, the text-books, and in Brightly's Pennsylvania Digest, the citation is usually Pa. St., Penn. St., Penn., or simply Pa.

¹⁵ Vol. 13 Pa. State was partially reported by James Hepburn, and was completed, after his death, by Harris.

¹⁶ This is a volume of 131 pages, without index, containing seven decisions, six of which were afterwards reprinted in the supplement to Bee's Reports (see p. 12). Although these are admiralty decisions, they were rendered in the State court, before the United States Constitution and the judicial organization adopted under it brought such cases into the federal courts.

Forty-nine similar "Judgments in the Admiralty of Pennsylvania," rendered 1779-1788, may be found in Vol. 3 (pages 1-215) of "The Miscellaneous Essays and Occasional

* An index to the 14 volumes of Wright's Reports was published in 1866. It has been sometimes labelled "Pennsylvania State Reports 50". Wright, 15."

Writings of Francis Hopkinson" (usually labelled "Hopkinson's Works") which were published in Philadelphia in 1792.

¹⁷ Vol. 1 is entitled "Cases adjudged in the Court of Common Pleas of the First Judicial District of Pennsylvania, 1811;" Vol. 2, "Cases adjudged in the District Court for the City and County of Philadelphia, and the Courts of Common Pleas of Pennsylvania, 1818." There is no volume-number on either titlepage to show their connection, but the reports are always cited as 1 and 2 Browne. The cases in the text commence with 1806, but the Appendix to Vol. 1 has cases as far back as 1801.

United States Circuit Court cases may be found on pages 15 and 28 of the Appendix to Vol. 2, and United States District Court cases on pages 335-352 of the text of the same volume.

Both volumes of Browne were reprinted, in inferior style, without changes, in 1871. In this edition, the two volumes are bound together as one.

¹⁸ "Cases adjudged in the Courts of Common Pleas, Quarter Sessions, Oyer & Terminer, and Orphans' Court, of the First Judicial District of Pennsylvania." Vol. 1, 1831; Vol. 2, 1841.

Both volumes were reprinted, in inferior style, without notes or changes, in 1871.

²⁰ "Reports of some of the Criminal Cases on Primary Hearing, before Richard Vaux, Recorder of the City of Philadelphia, together with some Remarks on the Writ of Habeas Corpus." Phil., 1846.

²¹ "Select Cases in Equity and at Law," in the Court of Common Pleas of the First Judicial District.

Vols. 1 to 4 are paged irregularly, to correspond with the volumes of the Law Journal, from which the cases are reprinted.

²³ Containing cases reprinted from the "Legal Intelligencer," Vols. 7 to 85. Vols. 1 to 8 and 10 of the Philadelphia Reports, were reported by Henry E. Wallace; Vol. 9 is anonymous, though copyrighted by Wallace; 11 and 12 were compiled by Henry C. Brown. The series includes cases from the supreme and inferior courts of Philadelphia, and from the United States courts. Vol. 1 has reached a third edition. The first edition was poorly reported; the second and third are better.

²⁴ Decisions of Hon. John J. Pearson, judge of the twelfth judicial district, reported by William Pearson.

²⁶ The titlepages of Vols. 1 and 2 read, "Reports of Equity, Election, and other important Cases, principally in the courts of the county of Philadelphia." Those of Vols. 3 and 4 read, "Reports of Cases decided in the Supreme Court and other Courts of Pennsylvania." The series contains cases from the Supreme and inferior courts of the State, and from United States courts.

and sometimes cited under his name. "With few exceptions," the preface claims, "these cases are published in no other reports." The cases from the fragmentary Vol. 3 of the magazine are printed with Vol. 2 of the reports.

²⁰ Brightly's Digest includes the reports from the beginning down to and including 83 Pa. State and 9 Phila.

The titlepage of Vol. 1 bears the name of Angell only as reporter; but a note on p. 141 states that Thomas Durfee succeeded him in 1849.

Since 1874, pamphlet "Indexes to Decisions" (entitled "Index A" and so on, alphabetically), containing reports of all the decisions in advance of the regular volumes of reports, have been published semi-annually. Five "Indexes" (M to Q) have been published, with later cases, since 12 R. I. appeared.

² Angell, the first reporter, was appointed in 1847, and the full reports of cases in the Rhode Island Supreme Court date from that time. The decisions from 1828 to 1847, printed in the first volume, were made up from written opinions on file.

³ Vols. 1 and 2 were reprinted in 1881 by order of the legislature, without notes or changes.

GENERAL STATUTES	1	S.C.Gen.Stat.1882.	To 1882

¹ A second edition of 1 Bay, "with additional notes and references" by the reporter, was published in 1809.

/ 1 Bay contains cases in the "Superior Courts of Law" (Common Pleas, General Sessions of the Peace, &c.); 2 Bay, decisions of the new "Constitutional Court of Appeals."

² Brevard was published after Treadway (1839, &c.), to fill the gap between the latter reports and Bay. Some few cases from Bay were republished and reported at greater length. Vol. 3 purports also to reprint all the cases in Treadway, but actually omits three cases in the Appendix. A few Nisi Prius cases are published in Vol. 1.

A new edition of Brevard, bound three volumes in two, — the original paging being indicated in the margin of the new page, — but without other changes, was published in 1857.

⁴ Treadway and Mill were not the reporters, but the publishers, of the volumes bearing their names. No reporters' names appear on the titlepages to either of these reports.

A second edition of Mill (a reprint, without changes) was published, two volumes in one, in 1837.

⁷ The editions of Nott & M'Cord are: 1st, 2 vols., 1820; 2d, 3 vols., 1842; 3d, 2 vols. in 1, 1860; all alike except in form.

An Appendix to Vol. 3 discusses the subject of Nudum Pactum, in connection with the Statute of Frauds.

The editions of M'Cord's Law are: 1st, 4 vols., 1822-1830; 2d, 4 vols. in 2, 1853. There are no changes, except the form of the page, in the later edition.

A second edition of Harper's Law, with additional cases to 1826, and notes, was published in 1841. It is known, from the name of the publisher, as "Riley's Harper."

¹¹ The editions of Hill's Law are: 1st, 3 vols., 1835-1838; 2d, 3 vols. in 2, 1857. There is no change in the second edition except in form.

¹⁶ The cases in the body of these reports were as dated above. The Appendixes contain "Omitted Cases, 1835-1840."

Editions: 1st, 2 vols., 1841-1843; 2d, 2 vols. in 1, 1860; without change except in form.

Vol. 1 contains a case decided in 1837.

¹⁸ Strobhart's Reports, in point of time, intervene between Vols. 3 and 4 Richardson's Law, and Vols. 2 and 3 Richardson's Equity. Richardson was apparently superseded as reporter by Strobhart, and on superseding him, in turn, resumed the numbering of his reports as if no interval had occurred.

¹⁹ An appendix to 4 Strobhart gives "Lectures by Judge Nott on Plead and Pleading."

²⁰ Vol. 2 Richardson's Law has one case, in the Appendix, decided in 1839.

Vol. 3 contains about 300 pages of cases in the March and April term of 1832, thus filling a gap between Bailey and Hill. The Appendix to the same volume reprints equity cases from the Carolina Law Journal which are not included in the index.

The Appendix to Vol. 8 also gives cases decided in 1832.

The titlepages of Vols. 1-3, in the original edition (1817), state that these reports are "in three volumes;" but a fourth volume was added in 1819.

A second edition, of four volumes bound in two, but with no changes except in form, was published in 1854.

²⁴ Editions: 1st, 2 vols., 1827-1829; 2d, 2 vols. in 1, 1857. There is no difference between them, except in form.

²⁷ Editions: 1st, 2 vols., 1834; 2d, 2 vols. in one, 1858. There is no difference except in form, between the editions.

²⁸ Entitled Vol. 1. No other volume was issued. An Appendix gives "Omitted Cases," 1827-1837.

³⁰ The volumes are numbered up to 14, but Vol. 12 is printed with 13 Richardson's Law. See n. 21, above.

The words "New Series" appeared on the backs of the early volumes, but never on the titlepages, which read, "Reports of Cases heard and determined by the Supreme Court of South Carolina."

³² Ravenel & McHugh's Digest includes 1-10 S. C.

³³ An "Index-Digest," published after this list was in type, and covering all the reports, both Law and Equity, to 14 S. C., inclusive.

Thompson & Steger's Compilation ¹⁴	2	Rev. Code 1872	1872

¹ Entitled "Tennessee Reports," and often so cited. They contain decisions of Judge Overton, edited by Thomas Emmerson. United States Circuit Court decisions may be found in Vol. 1, pages 366, 456-476, and Vol. 2, pages 111-163, and 433.

² A new edition of the Tennessee Reports, from 1 Overton to 1 Coldwell, inclusive, was published, 1871-1881, with notes by Hon. William F. Cooper, formerly Chancellor, now a judge of the Supreme Court. The excellence of the notes, the revision of the headnotes, and the superior typographical merit of this edition render it much superior to the originals.

In this edition the two volumes of Overton are usually bound in one, the three volumes of Haywood in one, Peck and Martin & Yerger together in one volume, and the other volumes separately.

⁴ Vols. 1 and 2 Haywood are North Carolina Reports, 1789-1806 (see p. 46 n. 5). The reporter emigrated to Tennessee, became a judge of the Supreme Court after the admission of that part of North Carolina to the Union as a State, and reported the decisions of the court in three volumes, which he numbered 3, 4, and 5. Vols. 1 and 2 are therefore not a part of the Tennessee Reports. Vols. 3, 4, and 5 were reprinted in one volume, in 1870, with notes and references by M. M. Bigelow. In the original volumes Judge Haywood made no syllabi to the cases. In his new edition Mr. Bigelow added "brief head-notes." Cooper's edition supplies new syllabi in full.

The five volumes reported by Haywood, in the originals, were irregular in size, — Vols. 1, 2, and 3 being crown octavo or duodecimo, not uniform; Vols. 4 and 5 much smaller.

⁶ The body of Yerger's Reports begins with 1828, succeeding Martin & Yerger; but a few cases previously decided are gathered into Vols. 1 and 2.

⁸ Heiskell's Reports, notwithstanding the assistance he received, became so greatly in arrears that Mr. Baxter commenced this series as an individual enterprise, with the consent of the State reporter. The later volumes of Heiskell and the earlier volumes of Baxter cover the same years, but do not duplicate cases. See preface to 2 Baxter.

⁹ Vols. 1, 2, and 3 Baxter were numbered, outside, 57, 58, and 59, corresponding with the number the volumes would have in a Tennessee series commencing with Overton. The subsequent publication of 10, 11, and 12 Heiskell, however, deranged this numbering, which has not been continued on later volumes of Baxter, nor of Lea.

The cases in Baxter are not arranged chronologically.

Paschal's prefaces to 25 Texas, Supplement, and to Vols. 28 and 31, relate to events of the war and the period of reconstruction, and possess more than ordinary interest.

⁴ Vol. 54 Texas includes many opinions of the "Commission of Appeals," which was organized to relieve the Supreme Court.

⁵ The reporters of the Texas Reports are:—

Vols. 1-3, Webb & Duval.

4-10, Hartley.

11-21, Hartley & Hartley.

22-24, Moore & Walker.

25 Supplement, Paschal.

Vols. 26, 27, Robards & Jackson.

28-31, Paschal.

32-37, Wheelock.

38-51, Terrell & Walker.

52-56, Terrell.

This is the only American series of reports of the current decisions of a court of last resort in criminal cases.

⁸ Jackson & Jackson are the reporters of all the Texas Court of Appeals Reports.

REVISED LAWS ⁷	1	Vt. Rev. Laws 1880	To 1880

¹ "Reports and Dissertations, in two parts." Part I., Reports, &c. Part II., 1798, Dissertations on the Statute adopting the Common Law of England, &c.; Appendix of Forms. This book was one of the earliest, and is undoubtedly the least in size, of the American reports. It has been recently reprinted without additions, in octavo form, in which it loses all its quaintness.

A few of N. Chipman's Cases are reprinted in D. Chipman, but not all.

² A long preface to Vol. 1 discusses the judicial history of Vermont.

Only one part of Vol. 2 (136 pages, without title or index) was published. This has recently been reprinted with the title and index supplied.

Vols. 1-9, The Judges ("agreeably to a statute law").	Vols. 24-26, Deane.
10, 11, Shaw (G. B.).	27-29, Williams.
11-14, Weston.	30-35, Shaw (W. G.).
15, Slade.	36-44, Veazey.
16-23, Washburn.	45-52, Rowell.
	53, 54, Palmer.

Each reporter calls his reports a new series. 11 Vt. has two titlepages, the first reading "Volume XI. New Series, Vol. 2, by G. B. Shaw;" the second (inserted as page 453) reading "Volume XI. Third Series, Vol. 1, by Wm. Weston." Williams's Reports have nothing on the titlepage or in the interior of the volume to show their number in the State series. All the other volumes give the State numbering on their titlepages. 20-25 Vt. contain some cases in United States Courts.

³ Of Washington (first edition 1798-1799) a second edition, "with material corrections," was printed in 1823.

Vols. 1, 2, and 3 were published in 1801; Vols. 4, 5, 6, not until 1833, when they were brought out to fill a gap between 3 Call and Hening & Munford.

A third edition of Call, Vols. 1, 2, and 3 (2 edition, notes by Joseph Tate, 1824), with additional notes by Lucian Minor, was published in 1854.

To Vol. 4 is prefixed a biographical sketch of the Judges of the Court of Appeals of Virginia.

⁶ Gilmer is usually labelled on the back, "Virginia Reports" "Vol. 1, 1820-21," and is sometimes cited as 1 Va. Rep. No further volumes were ever issued.

Gilmer was the first reporter appointed by the court under the auspices of the State. Previous reports had been published by private enterprise.

⁷ The preface to 1 Robinson gives a sketch of the Virginia Reports and Reporters up to 1843. The preface to Vol. 2 discusses delays in the administration of justice.

⁹ In 1795 Chancellor Wythe published a folio volume (167 pages) of decisions by the High Court of Chancery in Virginia, "with remarks upon decrees by the Court of Appeals reversing some of those decisions." Between 1796 and 1799 he published, in pamphlet form, seven additional cases. Although the chief object of these publications seems to have been to vindicate the decisions of the author from the opposite decisions of the Court of Appeals, they were nevertheless deemed worthy of a new edition, which appeared in 1852, with notes by B. B. Minor, a memoir of Chancellor Wythe by Henry Clay, and a learned appendix by William Green. The second edition is much more complete and valuable than the first.

¹⁰ "Howison's Criminal Trials," a thin volume of 120 pages, without index, contains reports of a few criminal cases in the State and United States courts held in Richmond, 1850-1851.

¹¹ The "Virginia Cases" contain decisions of the "General Court" (inferior to the Court of Appeals), mainly criminal cases. Vol. 1 was reported by Brockenbrough & Holmes; Vol. 2 by Brockenbrough alone. Vol. 1 was originally published in 1815; Vol. 2 in 1826. A new edition of Vol. 1, "with abstracts prefixed to the cases," was published in 1853, and bound up in one volume with the Vol. 2 of 1826.

The preface to Vol. 2 gives a "Brief Sketch of the Courts of this Commonwealth." An important case, Selden v. Coalter, given in the Appendix to Vol. 2, is not included in the table of cases.

¹³ Converse's Indexes give "Virginia Citations," "West Virginia Citations," "Topical Index to 1-33 Grattan's Reports," "Cases Disapproved, Distinguished, and Explained."

Martin's Index comes down to 33 Grattan.

¹⁴ Among the "Preliminary Matter" the Code contains an "Historical Synopsis of the Changes in the Law and Constitution of the State of Virginia."

This volume, entitled "Vol. 1, New Series," and published in 1879, is a new edition, enlarged, of a smaller volume published anonymously in 1864, and containing cases 1854 to 1864. It seems to be only a "New Series" by virtue of having absorbed and therefore succeeded this predecessor. The earlier volume is entitled "Opinions of the Supreme Court," and the later, "Reports of Cases determined in the Supreme Court" of Washington Territory. Nothing on the titlepage or elsewhere in the later volume shows that it absorbed the former; but examination discloses the fact.

³ Reports of the State Supreme Court. Vol. 1, completed in 1850, was immediately reprinted, on account of the many errors found in it. Apparently no copies of the first impression were allowed to go to the public. See preface to Vol. 1.

The four volumes, being thin, were usually bound as two volumes. They were reprinted in full in 2 and 3 Pinney.

A long preface to 1 Pinney gives a sketch of the leading events of the early political and judicial history of Wisconsin.

Vols. 1-11, Smith (A. D.).

Vols. 16-54, Conover.

12-15, Spooner.

Vol. 16, though bearing the name of Conover as official reporter, was actually prepared by S. U. Pinney.

⁶ A new edition of Vols. 1 to 23 Wisconsin, with notes to Vols. 3 and 5 by L. S. Dixon, and to vols. 1, 2, 4, and 6-20 by Vilas & Bryant, was published 1871-1875. Vols. 8 and 9 in this edition are bound as one.

The new edition was published under the auspices of the State, and is in all respects superior to the originals.

⁷ Simmons' Digest, Vol. 1, includes Burnett, Chandler, and 1-20 Wisconsin. Vol. 2 covers 21 to 31 Wisconsin, and 1 Pinney; Vol. 3 covers 32 to 43 Wisconsin, and 2 and 3 Pinney.

AMERICAN REPORTS.

	Vols.	Abbreviations.	Period covered.
AMERICAN DECISIONS ¹	40	Amer. Dec.	1700-1844
AMERICAN REPORTS ²	40	Amer. Rep.	1869-1889

The publishers estimated, at the outset, that the series would comprise seventy-five volumes. As Vol. 40, however, only brings the reprint down to 1844, leaving nearly thirty years of the most prolific period of our law reporting to be covered, it is probable that more than seventy-five volumes will be required. From eight to ten volumes are published yearly.

An Index of Vols. 1-30, by A. C. Freeman, has been published.

A Digest, by Thompson, includes Vols. 1-24, with Supplement, by Browne, covering Vols. 25-36.

About three volumes of this series appear every year.

ENGLISH REPORTS.

Sources of Information.—English legal bibliography has been confined to the meagre items of the library catalogues and the booksellers' lists, to occasional comments in such works as Reeves' History of the English Law, and to one thin volume, Bridgman's Legal Bibliography, published in 1807. Of the booksellers' catalogues, the older class is the better. Successive catalogues by Worrall (continued by Brooke) in the eighteenth century, and the "Bibliotheca Legum" of Clarke (1819), are of great use in determining dates and editions of old law books, and give occasional comments on their merits. Singularly enough, the two most useful works on this subject are American,—Marvin's Legal Bibliography, published in 1847, and never reprinted; and Wallace's "The Reporters," the fourth edition of which has just appeared.

The author of this manual hoped to find in some library in London a collection of all the editions of the old reports, and to make a careful comparison of their merits for record here. To his surprise he found that the older editions had been sold from most of the libraries as useless duplicates, and that no library, to which he found access, could afford opportunities for such comparison. He has had, therefore, to rely upon the authorities mentioned above for dates and particulars of some of the older editions, verifying them, so far as was possible, from stray copies seen here and there at different times.

The Scope of the Following List.—From these various sources, from the aid of librarians, and from a thorough examination of the books themselves, such items have been gathered as would seem to be most useful to a lawyer in identifying, comparing, and determining the value of reports and editions. For the biography of the reporters, the history of the reports, and comments upon their merits, the reader is referred to the fourth edition of Wallace's Reporters.

The "period covered," has been verified in every instance by reference to the original volumes. Where it differs from that given in other catalogues, the difference arises from this verification. The dates of editions have also been verified where it was possible. There is considerable uncertainty about the old editions; see Wallace's Reporters, n. 1, p. 69. The authorities relied upon for dates, where the compiler has not been able to verify them, are given in brackets. It should be noted that the word "edition," in the old reports, appears often to mean only an impression or reprint without essential changes; and, on the other hand, confusion is produced by giving to the same edition the dates of different impressions.

For reasons specified in each instance, a few volumes are here included as reports which are not found in other lists. As it is sometimes difficult to draw the line between abstracts, compendiums, or trials, and reports, several sets are given in the lists which come on the border line, but have been admitted to recent catalogues. Other volumes or sets, which have been sometimes so catalogued, are here omitted. The omission is always noted, with an explanation in the place where the set is usually catalogued.

Arrangement of the Reports.—The order in which the reports are catalogued will be found to be somewhat different from that of most of the lists. The changes have been made deliberately, in order to group together the reports which seem to be related to each other. The Law Reports are placed first, for reasons explained on p. 69. The Bankruptcy Reports follow the Chancery, and the Registration Appeals follow the Common Pleas, for reasons given under those heads. The Practice (Bail Court) Cases and Nisi Prius Reports are placed later in the order than is usual. From the Chancery Reports to the Crown Cases, the courts given are those whose decisions are now included in the Law Reports, in the usual order. From the Crown Cases on, the inferior reports are placed in groups, according to connection of subjects or relation of courts.

This list was put in type in the early part of the year 1882; and no changes have since been made except the correction of a few errors which have been discovered. To bring it down to January, 1883, it is only necessary to allow for another year's issue of the Law Reports and the law periodicals.

Methods of Reporting.—With the exception of the Year Books, the English reports have never been published under the system of statutory and paid reporting which prevails in America. The later reports have been often "authorized" by the judges, but never by statute, even to this day. Their chronology has been divided into, —

- I. The period of official and regular reporting (represented by the Year Books only).
- II. The period of casual reporting (private and often posthumous; from the Year Books to the Term Reports).
- III. The period of private but regular reporting (from the Term Reports to 1865).
- IV. The period of systematic reporting by council (1865 to the present time).

The evils of the third period — the lack of system, the multiplication of rival reports, the contrast or contradiction of the different series, the cost of the numerous "authorized" reports, the gradual deterioration of reporting in many of the courts, and the entire absence of guaranties for good or regular reporting in any of them — began to vex the bench and bar a generation ago. The law journals discussed the matter in 1843, or earlier; the Law Amendment Society took it up in 1849; publishers attempted in 1838, in 1850, and later, to establish systematic reports in all the courts, but with little success. The discontent and discussion finally culminated in a meeting of the bar held in London, Dec. 2, 1863. Committees were appointed who discussed the subject thoroughly, and advised a system of reporting which was adopted in November, 1864, accepted by the Inns of Court, and put into operation in 1865. This system (briefly described under the head of Law Reports, post) has since been in successful operation. At its inauguration the offices of reporting were offered to the reporters of the fourteen series then in course of publication, and were accepted by all but Beavan, Best & Smith, and Hurlstone & Coltman, and even these reporters found it impossible to sustain their series for any length of time. Beavan's Reports were abandoned in 1866, Best & Smith's in 1870, Hurlstone & Coltman's in 1867. Harrison & Rutherford, who attempted to continue the Common Pleas Reports, issued only one volume. The "New Reports" and the Jurist were discontinued in 1865 and 1866; and all the other reports, both "authorized" and irregular (except those of the Law Journal, the Law Times, and the Weekly Reporter, which have continued to the present time), were merged in the Law Reports.

Regular and Irregular Reports.—With the growth of law reporting, during the third period, came a host of rival reports. For many years there were certain series recognized by the courts as "authorized," and now included in the lists as regular reports; and other series, commending themselves sometimes by superior excellence, but oftener by greater cheapness. These are catalogued under the head of "Collateral Reports," after the regular series in each court. There have also been, in late years, a number of law journals which published early reports of decisions in all the courts. These are valuable from the fact that they are often cited, and contain many cases never reported elsewhere. There were also, at various times, several attempts at systematic reporting in all the courts, foreshadowing the Law Reports.

Dublin Editions.—Before the union of England and Ireland (1800) there was no copyright law common to the two countries, and English reports were frequently "pirated" and reprinted in Dublin without permission of the English publishers. This led to a strong prejudice in England against all such reprints, which has followed them to America with greater intensity than a comparison of editions may always warrant. The Dublin editions are usually inferior in appearance of type, paper, and binding to the London originals; but they are, as a rule, tolerably accurate, and if printed from the last English editions will generally serve well enough in their place.

In some instances (such as Colles, Mosely, and Ridgeway temp. Hardwicke) there are none but Dublin editions—or Dublin editions with an occasional London imprint—of English reports now recognized in all the catalogues.

American Reprints.—There have been many reprints of English reports in this country,—so many and so varied in merit or demerit that no general rule can be made as to whether an American lawyer should prefer the originals or the reprints. In some cases (for instance, Sumner's edition of Vesey, Jun., and the excellent reprints of the House of Lords Cases and the later Chancery reports) the reprints are far more useful than the originals. In others, where they are simply reprints of the latest English editions without American notes, they are usually inferior in typographical appearance, but also considerably cheaper, and may be preferred on that account. In a third class of cases, such as the Condensed English Chancery Reports, Martin's edition of Latch, and the Boston edition of Hobart, the American editor has omitted or condensed cases which he considered unimportant, and thus diminished the value of the reprints in the eyes of a profession which looks with disfavor on abridged or condensed editions of reports.

LAW REPORTS: SESSIONS CASES.

[The following information was received too late for insertion in its proper place.]

In 1869 a reprint was begun (under the title of THE LAW REPORTS: SESSIONS CASES) of the Magistrates Cases on Appeals, reported in the Law Reports. Four parts were published every year for four years (1869-1872), and the series was then discontinued. The bound volume consists of vii and 599 pages. As it is only a reprint, without notes, it has no value in America.

REGNAL YEARS.

In many of the old books, the only dates attached to the cases are the terms and the regnal years in which they were decided. "Tables of Regnal Years," showing the commencement of each reign, are given in all the catalogues; but as the regnal year has never coincided with the calendar year, it requires considerable time for the American lawyer to translate from one form into the other.

To simplify such calculations, the following table gives the order of terms in the first regnal year of each reign, with the calendar year in which they fell. By adding to the latter the regnal year of any given term, less one, the calendar year can be found. Thus, Hil. Term, 4 Geo. I. would be (4—1) three years after 1715, in which the first Hilary term of his reign came, or 1718. Mich. Term, 4 Geo. I., in the same way, would fall in 1717.

The law terms were originally timed by the church festivals from which they take their names. Since 1831 they have been defined by law as follows:—

Hilary Term	Jan. 11 to Jan. 31.
Paachal (or Easter) Term	Apr. 15 to May 8.
Trinity Term	May 23 to June 12.
Michaelmas Term	Nov. 2 to Nov. 26.

* Each of these reigns commenced in the midst of a Term, which is given as the first term of the regnal year when the reign began in the early part of the term. When only a few days of the term remained when a reign began, the next term is given as the first one of the regnal year.

† The Commonwealth intervened between Jan. 30, 1649, and May 20, 1660, but the regnal years of Charles II., after his restoration, are computed from the first date, when his reign theoretically began.

THE LAW REPORTS.¹

[The Law Reports are published under the direction of an "Incorporated Council of Law Reporting for England and Wales," composed of the Attorney-General and Solicitor-General, ex officio, and two elected members, severally, from Serjeants' Inn, Lincoln's Inn, the Inner Temple, the Middle Temple, Gray's Inn, and the Incorporated Law Society. The Reports are issued in monthly parts, paged in different series, by courts, to be bound up into separate volumes at the end of the year of publication, which commences with the Michaelmas Term, in November. The system of reporting by reporters under the oversight of editors, is outlined in the notes below. The salaries of editors and reporters and the expenses of printing are paid out of the receipts from subscriptions, without government aid or especial legislation.

In 1875 the arrangement of the reports was somewhat changed, without any other practical change in the system.

The place of the Law Reports in the catalogues is usually at the end of the English Reports. But so many "miscellaneous" and unimportant series of minor reports are now grouped after the reports of the more important courts, that the usual arrangement separates the latter too widely from the Law Reports, in which they have been merged. The importance of the current reports, and the frequent necessity of reference to them under the other courts, appear to point to the beginning of the list as a more appropriate place for them.

The names of the editors and reporters of the Law Reports are given in the notes, not because the reports are ever cited under their names, but because they indicate how the previous series of reports have been continued in this series; because they may help to show the relation of reporting to other law literature in the future; and because it seems proper that the names of those who serve such an excellent system should have an individual record.]

Only the most important of the cases abstracted are afterwards published at length in the Law Reports. A digest, by G. Meryon White, of the cases in the Weekly Notes from 1866 to 1879, not subsequently reported, was published in 1880. The volume of the magazine for 1881 is the first to have an index; its predecessors having only tables of cases.

AMERICAN REPRINTS OF THE LAW REPORTS.

A reprint of the Common Law and the Equity series of the Law Reports (without the Appellate Series) was published in Philadelphia from 1866 to 1872, when it was discontinued. It comprised all the bound volumes published in England up to the end of 1871,—that is, the 1-6 Q. B., 1-6 C. P., 1-6 Ex., 1 P. & D., 1-2 A. & E., 1-6 Ch., 1-12 Eq.; also pp. 1-330 of 1 Crown Cases Reserved. This reprint, which kept the name of THE LAW REPORTS, was not annotated, but was accurate, and was fairly printed.

In 1872 a reprint of "all the cases in the various Courts of England, believed to be of value in this country," in full, as reported, was commenced in Albany and is still published. It commenced with 7 Q. B. 1, 7 C. P. 1, 7 Ex. 1, 1 C. C. 334, 2 P. & D. 300, 3 A. & E. 500, 7 Ch. 1, 13 Eq. 1, 5 H. L. 321, 2 Sc. & D. App. 214, 4 P. C. 1, and has selected the most important cases from subsequent volumes of the Law Reports, and also from Cox's Criminal Cases, beginning with Vol. 12. The reprint is entitled "ENGLISH REPORTS," is well printed and bound, and is rendered valuable by numerous notes by the editor, N. C. MOAK. They are generally known as "Moak's English Reports." About three volumes are published annually. Vol. 30 is the last volume issued, up to January, 1883.

² Within a few years several of the old English reports have been republished. In one series, sumptuously printed and bound, are Shower, Bellewe, Cunningham, Choyce Cases in Chancery, Cooke, Brooke's New Cases, W. Kelynge, and J. Kelyng. In another, less elegantly manufactured, but good reprints, are Cary, Tothill, Nelson, Calthrop, and Sessions Cases. The new editions of Shower, Cooke, and J. Kelyng contain matters not found in previous editions. The others in both series are merely reprints, without notes or additions.

³ Colles was printed in Dublin as a supplementary volume (8) to an Irish edition of Brown published 1784-1789. The reporter states that he discovered in Ireland a MS. which enabled him to fill the chasm between the reports of Shower and Brown. It has not been republished in any other form.

⁴ The first edition, 1779, was in seven volumes folio, with cases coming down only to the date of publication. A Dublin edition (8vo) was published in seven volumes in 1784, containing no additional cases but adding Colles as a supplementary or eighth volume. The second English edition, with notes by Tomlins, and additional cases (down to 1800), was published in eight volumes in 1803. Colles is not reprinted in this edition, the eighth volume of which contains appendixes and an index. The latest edition is much the best of the three.

The cases in the first seven volumes of Tomlins' edition are grouped under subjects, as in an abridgment or digest. In the other editions the arrangement was chronological. This radical difference has produced confusion in references, which may be corrected by the use of a table of parallel references to be found on pp. 333-338 of Vol. 8, Tomlins' edition.

The usual designation of these reports is "Brown's Parliamentary Cases": hence the abbreviation given above.

⁶ Only one part (141 pages, no title or index) of 4 Bligh was ever published.

⁷ Three parts only (526 pages, no title or index) of 11 Bligh N. S. were published.

The preface to 1 Bligh N. S. ascribes the unfinished state of 4 Bligh, and the gap between the series, to a lack of substantial encouragement and support.

⁸ Though Dow & Clark cover the same years as 1-6 Bligh N. S., no cases are duplicated.

¹⁰ This volume is also found catalogued, more properly, under the head of Scotch House of Lords Cases. The only excuse for including it in this list (as all the catalogues do), lies in the fact that it has among its seventy-five Scotch Appeals, five cases from England and Ireland.

¹³ Already catalogued. See pp. 69, 70.

² "Cases argued and determined in Prize Causes." Of Vol. 2, only one part (135 pages, and Appendix, xxiii pages) was ever published. Both volumes were republished in full in the "English Admiralty" series, Boston, 1853.

³ A portion of Vol. 3, after the death of Knapp, was reported by Moore.

Admiralty Cases selected from 2 and 3 Knapp, and from 1, 2, 3, 4, 6, 7 Moore, were reprinted in Vol. 4 of the "English Admiralty" series.

⁴ Moore's Indian Appeals contain reports of cases appealed to the Privy Council from all the higher courts of India. Moore's Privy Council Cases include the appeals from the Supreme Court, and, after 1862, from the High Court of Judicature, so far duplicating the Indian Appeals: but exclude the appeals from the Sudder Dewanny, or native courts, which are included in the Indian Appeals.

This distinction prevails also between Moore's Indian Appeals and the Law Reports: Privy Council Appeals, so long as Moore was reporter of the latter. With Vol. 5, L. R. P. C., however, the East India Appeals are all included in the Law Reports, Indian Appeals, and excluded from the Privy Council and Appeal Cases.

⁵ Already catalogued. See pp. 69, 70.

⁶ Vols. 1-4 reported by Moore; Vol. 5, by Macpherson; Vol. 6, by Cowell. It is noteworthy that Moore, while serving as Privy Council reporter for the Council of Law Reporting, continued his own private series, and that 1-4 L. R. P. C. are identical, word for word, with Moore N. S., from Vol. 3, p. 347, to the end of Vol. 9.

⁷ "Being Cases in the Privy Council, on Appeal from the East Indies." This series is a continuation of Moore's Indian Appeals, and was not begun until the publication of the latter had ceased. The Supplement was published in 1880, to fill the gap which had been left between the last volume of Moore and the first volume of Indian Appeals.

Vol. 1 was reported by W. Macpherson; Vols. 2-8, by Herbert Cowell; the Supplement, by Cowell.

CHITTY'S EQUITY DIGEST ⁵⁸	6		1883	1557-1883

¹ "Collected by Sir George Cary. Out of the labors of Master William Lambert." Earlier editions, 1650, 1665, and 1820, all alike. As to the reprint, see n. 2, p. 73. The earlier editions are 18mo, and the reprint of 1872 a square duodecimo.

⁵ "Reports of Cases taken and adjudged in the Court of Chancery in the reign of Charles I., Charles II., James II., William III., and Queen Anne," &c. Anonymous.

3 vols. folio, paged separately, but usually bound together in one volume. Third edition, 1736, purporting to have many additional references (which seem, however, to be few and meagre). The first edition of this work was published in two volumes, duodecimo, in 1693, one volume coming down to 20th Charles II.; another volume ("The Second Part") covering the years from 20th Charles II. to 1st William & Mary. This edition is the work which Wallace notices separately as "Cases Taken and Adjudged." In 1715 another edition of these two volumes was published, with a third volume (dated 1716) consisting of two parts (paged consecutively), the first containing "Cases in the Reign of Charles II.," the second, "Cases decreed by William Cowper, now [1710] Lord Chancellor of Great Britain." The first edition is in duodecimo, printed in Roman characters; the third (1736) is in folio, black letter.

⁷ Composed of three parts, paged separately, but bound in one volume: namely, "Cases argued and decided in the High Court of Chancery," third edition; "The Second Part" of the same, second edition; and "Select Cases in the High Court of Chancery," fourth edition, — all anonymous. The third part seems to have no particular connection with the other two, and contains only three cases. The latest date covered by Parts I. and II., is 1687. The first edition of the first volume appears to have been published in 1697; a second, in 1707; the third, in 1730, with date afterwards changed to 1735. For facts and speculations concerning this book see Wallace's Reporters, p. 480.

An American edition published in octavo, New York, 1828, reprints the cases from the second edition of Parts I. and III., and the first edition of Part II. The notes of the later editions of the original, which were numerous, are not reprinted in the New York edition.

⁸ "A General Abridgment of Cases in Equity." This edition was published in Dublin. It purports to be a "third edition" in two volumes, octavo, but the second volume is divided into two parts, consecutively paged, but bound separately. It is an abridgment, with the subjects arranged alphabetically, including reports partly selected and partly original. The latter, marked with a star, appear to include the years 1667-1744.

Earlier editions of Vol. I. 1732, 1734, 1739 (all the same), 1756, and 1793, London, folio; of Vol. II., 1756 and 1769, London, folio. The 1793 folio, London, of Vol. I. is called the "fifth edition," and with the 1769 ("second") edition of Vol. II. constitutes the last English edition. The Dublin octavo of 1792-1793 is called "the third edition," and appears to be an exact reprint of the former.

⁹ Second edition, edited by J. E. Hovenden. The Law and the Equity Reports of Freeman were originally published together in one volume, folio, 1743. The Law Cases were often cited as 1 Freeman, the Chancery Cases as 2 Freeman. In this edition the cases are numbered. A few equity cases are reprinted in the Appendix, from the law part of Freeman. These are also printed in the second edition of Freeman's Law Reports.

¹⁰ "Reports of Cases during the time Sir Heneage Finch, afterwards Earl of Nottingham, was Lord Chancellor." The preface is signed "W. N." (William Nelson). Sometimes cited as Nelson's folio Rep. in Can. as distinguished from Nelson's octavo reports, for which see above.

¹² The reporter's name was William Peere Williams, but his reports have been so long cited as "Peere Williams" that this designation has become practically a compound name, to be catalogued, as Marvin has it, under P, and not W. Besides Chancery Cases he reported "some special cases adjudged in the Court of King's Bench." There were folio editions in 2 vols. 1740; 2 vols. in 1746, with a third in 1749; and 3 vols. 1768; octavo editions, 3 vols., by S. C. Cox, in 1787 and 1793; and this (sixth) edition in 1826, edited by John B. Monro, William L. Lowndes, and James Randall. This latest edition omits from the notes original cases which had been inserted by Mr. Cox in the fourth and fifth editions, but which he afterwards published in his own volumes of reports. The 1793 edition was reprinted in Dublin in 1798. A "sixth American edition" (actually the first American edition), from the fifth English edition, was published in Philadelphia in 1823.

Gilbert's Cases in Law and Equity (which contains actually no equity cases) is a different book, and may be found catalogued among the King's Bench Reports.

¹⁵ Anonymous. First published in 1740. The second edition (1850) was elaborately annotated by Stewart Macnaghten. It was reprinted in Philadelphia in 1851, and included in the "English Chancery" reprint under the title of "Macnaghten's Select Cases."

These "Select Cases" should not be confounded with the third part of Cases in Chancery, which has a similar name.

Editions, — folio, 1741 and 1753; octavo, with notes by John Griffith Williams, London, 1792, and Dublin, 1798.

¹⁹ "From the original manuscripts of Lord Chancellor Hardwicke." With notes by M. J. West. Never published before 1827. The titlepage reads "Vol. 1," but no other volume was ever issued.

²² Like W. Kelynge, this volume contains both Chancery and King's Bench Reports. It consists of two parts paged consecutively: Part 1 (pp. 1-162) containing King's Bench cases, 1733-1736; and Part 2 (pp. 163-345), Chancery cases, 1744-1745.

But one edition of Ridgway temp. Hardwicke has been printed. Some copies bear the imprint of London, others of Dublin, but both are evidently printed from the same type in Dublin.

²³ By Francis Vesey, Senior. Editions: 2 vols. folio, 1771-1773; 2 vols. octavo, 1788; and the edition of 1818 in 2 vols. octavo, edited by Belt.

In 1817 Robert Belt published in one volume a "Supplement" to Vesey, Senior, consisting of very full notes and comments, seriatim, on the cases in Vesey's two volumes. A second edition of this Supplement, published in 1825, has since then been bound as Vol. 3, Vesey, Sen. The three volumes were reprinted without alteration in Philadelphia in 1831.

The name is spelled Vezey in the folio edition.

²⁵ "From the original manuscripts of Lord Chancellor Northington." With notes by R. H. Eden. Sometimes entitled and cited as Northington's Reports. First edition, 1818; second edition, with considerable additions, 1827.

Reprinted in full, without changes, in Philadelphia, two volumes in one, 1839.

American edition, reprinted in full, with excellent notes by Murray Hoffman, 2 vols. New York, 1824.

The first American edition, by E. D. Ingraham, was published in Philadelphia, 1821-1823, in 20 vols. without, of course, Hovenden's Supplement, but often bound with Vesey & Beames as Vols. 21 and 22. By far the best edition is that published in Boston in 1844-1845, with excellent and elaborate American notes to Vol. 11 by C. B. Goodrich; to Vols. 5, 7, 8, 9, 10, 12, by J. C. Perkins; and to the other volumes by Charles Sumner. The series is known as Sumner's edition of Vesey, Junior. The notes in Hovenden's Supplement are incorporated with the cases in Sumner's edition.

American edition, reprinted in full, with notes by Murray Hoffman, New York, 1824.

³¹ An appendix to Merivale contains notes of cases, not elsewhere reported, from 1805 to 1815. American reprint, in full, without notes, 3 vols. New York, 1825.

³³ Jacob & Walker was reprinted in New York in 1822, with notes by H. W. Warner.

³⁴ Jacob was reprinted in full in Vol. 4 of the "English Chancery Reports."

³⁶ Only two parts (360 pages) of Vol. 5 were published, without title or index.

Reprinted in the "English Chancery Reports."

4 Russell in 4 Eng. Ch.

5 " " 5 " "

Vol. 1 Russell was reprinted in New York, without notes, in 1828. This is the reason why the volume was not at first included in the "English Chancery Reports."

4 Myl. & C. in 18 Eng. Ch.

Vol. 5 was published five years later than Vol. 4; and this fact probably accounts for the delay in republication.

⁴⁰ Craig & Phillips was reprinted in the "English Chancery Reports," Vol. 18.

⁴¹ Philips was reprinted in the "English Chancery Reports:" Vol. 1 in 19 Eng. Ch.; Vol. 2 in 22 Eng. Ch.

⁴³ Reprinted in Boston, with American notes by J. C. Perkins. The reprint is sometimes bound with the original titles, sometimes as 50-57 "English Chancery Reports." See note on that series.

⁴⁸ Already catalogued. See p. 69.

⁵⁰ There are only four parts, which seem to be portions of two volumes bound together in one volume, without title or index. It is paged 1-474, then begins again with 1, and so on up to 168, and is altogether a fragmentary affair. All but five of Wilson's cases were reported in the regular series by Swanston or by Jacob & Walker.

Cooper, temp. Brougham was partially reprinted in 8 "English Condensed Chancery Reports."

⁵³ "Minutes of Cases." A small volume containing notes of some cases not included by the other reporters who cover the same years. No. 1 (16 pp. and supplement 8 pp.) of Vol. 1, New Series, of Donnelly, was published Jan. 1, 1838; but the enterprise apparently fell through with that number, which can hardly rank as a separate volume.

⁵⁴ "Practice Cases:" so labelled outside. No such phrase on the titlepage, which reads "Reports of some Cases adjudged in the Courts of the Lord Chancellor, Master of the Rolls, and Vice-Chancellor, in the Years 1837-1838," by Charles P. Cooper. The appendix contains notes of cases 1822-1831. Entitled Vol. 1. No other published. It consists mainly of cases not given in other reports covering the same years.

⁵⁵ Mostly cases not elsewhere reported. The annotations are very full. Miscellaneous cases and dicta are interspersed as far back as 1838. Only two parts (560 pages without index) of Vol. 2 of Cooper, temp. Cottenham were published.

⁶⁶ Hall & Twells cover years also included by Macnaghten & Gordon, but report many cases not given by the latter.

⁶⁷ These "Equity Reports" are portions of a series published for two years by Spottiswoode, including various courts after much the same plan as that adopted ten years later by the Council of Law Reporting. They were reported by various hands.

⁶⁸ "An Index to all the reported Cases decided in the several Courts of Equity in England and Ireland, the Privy Council, and the House of Lords, and to Statutes, on or relating to the Principles, Pleading, and Practice of Equity and Bankruptcy. By Edward Chitty. The fourth edition by Jones and Hirst." This Index (or Digest) includes the Rolls and Vice-Chancellors' cases. It is now in course of publication.

Beavan continued his reports in opposition to the Law Reports (see letters printed in the first part of the earlier copies of Vol. 34), but only through one volume (35). Vol. 36 contains only five cases, being mainly an index to the series.

¹ Parts 1 and 2 of Vol. 6 were reported by Maddock; Part 3 (pp. 287-402), by T. C. Geldart. The titlepage of the volume gives the reporters as "Maddock and Geldart" (date 1829, seven years later than Vol. 5); the "Directions to the binder" specify that the volume shall be so lettered, and it was formerly so labelled and cited. It is now usually bound and cited as 6 Maddock.

The "Condensed" feature of this series did not find favor, and a reprint in full (under the name of "ENGLISH CHANCERY REPORTS") of many of the same reports and their English successors was commenced in New York in 1843. Forty-three volumes were published at various dates up to 1857, with American notes, to different volumes, by John A. Dunlap, E. Fitch Smith, Thos. W. Waterman, J. L. Hanes, and Nathan Howard, Jr. In 1871 Vols. 44, 45, and 46 were added, with notes by Chas. Francis Stone; and in 1871-1874 Vols. 47-69 were published in Boston, with notes by J. C. Perkins. The following are the contents of this series: —

BANKRUPTCY.

[These reports are usually placed in the catalogues near the end of the English Reports. But as they contain decisions of the Lord Chancellor and the Vice-Chancellors, and, from 1831 to 1847, of the "Court of Review" under supervision of the Lord Chancellor, — this appears to be a better place for them.]

² "Rolls and Records of the Court held before the King's Justiciars or Justices." These volumes (edited by Sir Francis Palgrave) were printed in 1835, under the auspices of the Record Commission of Great Britain. The editor supposes them to be the earliest consecutive judicial records now existing anywhere.

The first edition of the State Trials, in four volumes, folio, followed immediately by a fifth, appeared anonymously in 1719, but was acknowledged to be prepared by Thomas Salmon, who published in 1720 an "Abridgment" of the work, with some additions in eight volumes, octavo. The second edition appeared in folio in 1730, with changes, and a new (sixth) volume. This edition was also anonymous, but was known to be by Sollom Emlyn. In 1738 Mr. Salmon published, in one volume, folio, a "Critical Review of the State Trials." The third edition, in six volumes, folio, without material changes, was issued in 1742. Meanwhile, two additional folio volumes, the seventh and eighth, had been published (in 1735), supplying omissions in the preceding volumes. These were not included in the third edition of 1742, but were reprinted, without alteration, in 1766, together with two more folio volumes, the ninth and tenth, bringing the trials down to 1760. The fourth edition, edited by Francis Hargrave, and known as "Hargrave's State Trials," followed in 1775-1881, in eleven volumes, folio, always bound as six volumes. The first ten volumes are reprints of the third edition and its supplements, varying only in having two columns to a page, each one representing a page in the third edition, and numbered to correspond with it. (This numbering by columns is carried also into Howell's edition.) The eleventh volume was prepared by Mr. Hargrave, and continues the cases to 1779.

* King's Bench and Bail Court.

The State Trials have thus successively borne the names of Salmon, Hargrave, Cobbett, and Howell.

These trials were mostly in the King's Bench, and are included in this list because they contain a large number of cases in that court not elsewhere reported.

✓ The Year Books (although their titlepages give no record of numbering in a series) are bound and labelled in chronological order, as follows : —

Part I. "Les Reports des Cases Argue & Adjudge in le Temps del Roy Edward le Second, et aux Memoranda del' Exchequer en Temps le Roy Edward le Primer." Usually known as Maynard's Reports temp. Edw. II. The memoranda of the Exchequer temp. Edw. I. occupy the first forty-three pages of the volume, after which the reports proper commence, with a new (continuous) paging, and cover 1–19 Edw. II. (1307–1328). This part, whose reports come first in the chronological order, was the last of the Year Books printed, its first and only edition being in 1678.

Part II. "Le Premier Part de les Reports del Cases en Ley, que furent argues en le temps de le tres Haut & Puissant Prince Roy Edward le Tierce." Period, 1–10 Edw. III. (1328–1338). Cited as the First Part of Edward III. Editions, 1562, 1596, 1679. Each year is paged separately.

Part III. "Le Second Part," &c., to the above. Period, 17–39 Edw. III. (1344–1367, with the omission, however, of many years). Cited as the Second Part of Edward III. The reports of each year are paged separately. Editions, 1555, 1619, 1679.

Part IV. "Les Reports del Cases en Ley" — "a Quadragesimo ad Quinquagesimum Annum de" — "le Roy Edward le Tierce." Period, 40–50 Edw. III. (1368–1378). Cited sometimes as the Third Part of Edward III., but often known as Quadragesims from the title. Editions, 1555 (Harvard Law Library Catalogue), 1576 (Lincoln's Inn Catalogue), 1600 (Dugdale's Origines Juridicales), and 1679. Each year is paged separately.

Part V. "Le Livre des Assises et Pleas del Corone" — "en temps du Roy Edward le Tiers." Period, 1–50 Edw. III. (1367–1378). Cited as Liber Assisarum. Editions, 1561 (Wallace), 1606 (Dugdale), and 1679. The paging is continuous.

[Bellewe intervenes, in point of time, between Parts V. and VI.]

Part VI. "Les Reports del Cases en Ley" — "en le temps des Roys Henry le IV. & Henry le V." Period, 1–14 Henry IV. (1399–1413). Cited as the Year Book of Henry IV. Editions, 1562, 1575, 1605, 1679. "Les Reports del Cases en Ley" — "en le temps de Roy Henry le Cinque." Period, 1–9 Henry V. (1413–1423). Cited as the Year Book of Henry V. Editions, 1563, 1570, 1605, 1679. These two

Year Books (in which each year is paged separately) are bound together as one "Part" in the editions of 1605 and 1679. They cover the reigns of the two kings, but the former omits several terms, and the latter several years.

Part VII. "La Premiere Part des Ans du Roy Henry le VI." Period, 1-20 Henry VI. (1423-1443). Cited as the First Part of Henry VI. Editions, 1587 (Dugdale), 1609, 1679. Each year is paged separately. Several years are wanting.

Part VIII. "Les Reports des Cases Contenus in les Ans vingt premier, & apres en temps du Roy Henry le VI." Period, 21-39 Henry VI. (1443-1462). Cited as the Second Part of Henry VI. Editions, 1587 (Dugdale), 1575 (Lincoln's Inn Catalogue), 1601, 1679. Each year is paged separately. Several years are omitted. A "Syntomotaxia," or Digest, of 100 pages, by Robert Barnwall, accompanies this part in the edition of 1679.

Part IX. "Les Reports des Cases en Ley que furent argues en temps du Roy Edward le Quart." Period, 1-22 Edw. IV. (1462-1484). Cited as the Year Book of Edward IV. Editions, 1599, 1640 (Wallace), 1680. Each year is paged separately.

Part X. "Les Reports des Cases en Ley En le Cinque An du Roy Edward le Quart Communement Appelle Long Quinto." Covering only the fifth year of Edward IV. (1466-1467), which is dismissed with eight pages only, in the Year Book of that monarch. Usually known as Long Quinto. Editions, 1587, 1688 (Wallace), 1680. Paged continuously (1-142 and Index).

Part XI. "Les Reports des Cases En les Ans des Roys Edward V. Richard III. Henrie VII. & Henrie VIII. Touts qui par cy devant ont este Publies." Period, 1 Edw. V. — 27 Henry VIII. (1484-1587), though the reports are not continuous. Each year is paged separately, and the cases are cited as from the Year Book of the king in whose reign they were decided. Editions, 1619, 1620, 1679. The Index of this Part is entitled "Annalium tam Regum Edwardi V. Richardi III. Hen. VII. quam Hen. VIII., Studio & Labore Guilhelmi Fletewoodi."

The set is sometimes bound in ten volumes, thus: —

Part I. as Vol. I.

II. as Vol. II.

III. as Vol. III.

IV. and V. as Vol. IV.

VI. as Vol. V.

Part VII. as Vol. VI.

VIII. as Vol. VII.

IX. as Vol. VIII.

X. as Vol. IX.

XI. as Vol. X.

and sometimes as six volumes, thus: —

Part I as Vol. I.

II. and III. as Vol. II.

IV. and V. as Vol. III.

Parts VI. and VII. as Vol. IV.

VIII. and IX. as Vol. V.

X. and XI. as Vol. VI.

But the volumes, as above indicated, have no bearing on the citations.

From a comparison of the dates of editions of the Parts, it will be seen that those printed in 1678 and 1680 constitute the first and only complete and uniform edition of the Year Books. Worrall and others catalogue "The Year Books, 10 parts (without Maynard's Edward the Second), printed about 1600." This is apparently a grouping of Parts II.-XI. of the dates 1585-1606 as above. It appears probable that reports were first printed for separate years, or groups of years, and afterwards gathered by reigns. It is not by any means certain that the dates given above cover all the editions of the Parts as now constituted. See Worrall's Bibliotheca Legum of 1768 and later dates; and the Lincoln's Inn Library Catalogue.

⁷ "Les Ans du Roy Richard le Second," &c. Norman-French, K. B., C. P. Bellewe, having extracted (see preface to this volume) from Brooke's Abridgment the "Ascuna Nouell Cases," published in 1578, and since known as "Brooke's New Cases," followed up that labor in 1585 with this volume, which is a collection under alphabetical titles of cases temp. Richard II., from the Abridgments of Statham, Fitzherbert, and Brooke. This report has been known as Bellewe's Cases temp. Richard, and the former volume as Bellewe's Cases temp. Henry VIII.

An elegant reprint was published in London in 1869. See n. 2, p. 78.

⁸ "Reports d'ascuns Cases," not comprised in the Year Books, "Seligès hors des papiers de Robert Keilwey, Esq., par Jean Croke," &c. Norman-French, K. B., C. P.. Before the publication of the reports of Sir George Croke this volume was sometimes cited as Croke, from the name of the editor. Editions, 1602, 1633 (said by Clarke to be the same), and the third edition "with more than two thousand references to other books," 1688. To this edition are appended a few cases reported by Justice Dalison, and others by William Bendloes. These are different from the cases of "Benloe & Dalison," but are identical with those which were printed in the 1609 edition of Ashe's Tables to the Year Books. Wallace conjectures that they were not contained in the 1602 edition of Keilwey, but were copied from Ashe into the second (1633) edition. This conflicts with Clarke's statement that the two editions were the same. A copy of the 1602 edition, in the Harvard Law Library, bears out the first part of Wallace's conjecture, but no copy of the 1633 edition can be found in Boston to compare with it.

This is the first volume which assumed the title of "Reports."

⁹ Moore. Norman-French. K. B., C. P., Ex., Ch. Impressions, 1663, 1675, "second edition" 1688, all edited by Sir Gefrey Palmer, without changes. Also, an Abridgment, in English, octavo, 1665, by Wm. Hughes.

Dyer contains cases in King's Bench, Common Pleas, Exchequer, and Chancery. It should be noted that nearly all the early reporters give decisions from different courts, and are ranged in the catalogues according to the preponderance of cases.

¹¹ "Ascuns Nouell Cases de les Ans et Temps le Roy H. VIII., Ed. VI., and la Roynne Mary." From Brooke's Abridgment. Collected (anonymously) by Bellewe, and sometimes cited by his name, as Bellewe's Cases temp. Henry VIII. See note to Bellewe, above. Known familiarly, from its size, as Petit (or little) Brooke, or "Petty Brook."

Editions, 24mo or 16mo, Norman-French, black letter, 1578, 1597 (so Clarke; Wallace says 1587), 1604, 1625, 1628.

John March published an English translation in alphabetical order (Brooke being chronologically arranged), in 12mo, in 1651. This should not be mistaken for March's New Cases, for which see further on.

The 1878 edition reprints the first edition of 1578 and March's translation of 1651 together. See n. 2, p. 73.

¹² K. B., C. P., Ex. This is what is known as "New Benloe." "Old Benloe" being the first part of Benloe & Dalison. But from the fact that "New Benloe" was published before "Old Benloe," their appellations have been sometimes interchanged, and much confusion has arisen.

There is always a gap of forty-eight pages and forty-five years in the middle of this volume,—from p. 41 to p. 89.

The accepted orthography is Benloe. The name appears in various places variously spelled; but the earlier and apparently correct form is Bendloes. See titlepage of this report; Rowe's preface to Bendloes & Dalison; and the added cases in Keilwey. See also note to Benloe & Dalison, among the Common Pleas Reports, post.

¹⁴ "The Commentaries or Reports of Edmund Plowden," in two parts, to which are added an Argument by Edmund Plowden, and Plowden's Quæries, paged separately. K. B., C. P., Ex.

Two parts folio in French, published in 1571, 1578 (1584, 1588, Wallace), 1599, 1613, 1684; folio, in English, 1761, 1779; 2 vols., octavo, in English, Dublin, 1792, and London, 1816.

Abridged by Thomas Ashe, 12mo, 1607; abridged by Sir John Walter and "Englished" by Fabian Hicks, 1659.

¹⁶ Noy. K. B., C. P. English, black letter. Editions, 1656, 1669.

¹⁷ K. B., C. P., Ex., Ch., &c. The reputation of these reports was so great, that for a long time they were cited simply as "The Reports" ("Rep."). Parts 1 to 11 were first published in French, at different times between 1602 and 1615 (Lincoln's Inn Catalogue), or 1607-1615 (Harvard Law Library). Parts 12 and 13 were not published until 1656 and 1659 (Lincoln's Inn Catalogue), long after Coke's death, and are not considered as authentic as the other parts. They were printed in English, and were reprinted in 1677. The first eleven parts were reprinted in French (Lincoln's Inn Catalogue), 1619-1631; in English (without the Pleadings, which were printed separately in 1650), in 1658; in French (bound as two volumes), 1672; in English, without the Pleadings, but with tables, 1680; in French, with references by Edward Chilton, in 1697; and in French (bound as two volumes), 1762. All these editions were in folio. The thirteen parts were all published together, for the first time, in English, bound as seven volumes octavo, with the Pleadings in Latin, in 1727. This edition was reprinted without substantial changes, except that the Pleadings were translated into English, in 1738. An octavo edition in English, bound as seven volumes, with notes by George Wilson, appeared in 1776-1777. This was reprinted in Dublin in 1793. The latest and best edition was published in six volumes, octavo, in 1826, with notes to Parts 1-3 and part of Part 4 by John H. Thomas, and to the other parts by John F. Fraser.

The Introductions to the first eleven parts of Coke's Reports are longer and more interesting than introductions to volumes of reports usually are.

Abridgments of Coke's Reports have been published as follows:—

Of Parts 1-11, octavo (in French), by Edward Trotman, 1640.

Of the same, duodecimo (French), by John Davis, 1651.

Of the same, duodecimo (in English), by Sir Thomas Ireland, in 1650, 1651, 1657, 1666. This was reprinted in New York, in 1813, with an abridgment of Parts 12 and 13 by John A. Dunlap.

Of Parts 12 and 13, duodecimo, by Robert Manby, 1670.

"Coke's Reports in verse" (in English), one volume, duodecimo, was published in 1742, and reprinted in 1825.

Coke is cited by parts, not by volumes.

¹⁹ K. B., C. P. The volumes in the first edition (folio, translated into English by Sir Harbottle Grimstone) were published in 1657 (Cro. Car.), 1658 (Cro. Jac.), 1661 (Cro. Eliz.), respectively. A very incorrect edition is spoken of by Clarke and others, with the date printed MDCL. The second edition appeared in 1669, in three volumes folio. The third edition followed in 1683 (or 1685). The four-volume octavo edition of 1790-92 was edited with improvements by Thomas Leach, and was reprinted in Dublin, in three volumes, in 1791-93. This latter is called the fifth edition of Vol. 1, and the fourth edition of Vols. 2 and 3.

Vol. 1 of the three-volume edition being given to cases in the reign of Elizabeth, Vol. 2 to James, and Vol. 3 to Charles I., the volumes are cited, respectively, 1 Cro. or Cro. Eliz.; 2 Cro. or Cro. Jac.; and 3 Cro. or Cro. Car.; except in the work itself and in some of the old books, where the numbers are reversed, the last volume having been originally published first.

In Leach's four-volume edition, Vols. 1 and 2 contain Cro. Eliz.; Vol. 3, Cro. Jac.; and Vol. 4, Cro. Car.

²⁰ "In all the Courts at Westminster." First impression 1653. There is no difference between the two impressions. The catalogues give the name Goldeaborough, but "that learned and judicious clerk" himself spelled it Gouldesborough.

An American edition of Hobart, with notes by J. M. Williams, "omitting cases deemed of no value" in this country, was published in Boston, octavo, 1829. Although the omission of cases diminishes the value of this edition, the American notes (some of them by Greenleaf) are so good that it should stand beside the latest English edition in every American library.

²⁴ "Reports of Divers Resolutions" — "in the Court of Wards, and other Courts at Westminster." Followed, with separate paging, by "A Learned Treatise concerning Wards and Liveries," by Sir James Ley. Only one edition, 1659.

The two volumes are usually bound together in one volume. They should not be confounded with Rolle's Abridgment.

²⁸ Palmer. In French. Impressions 1678, 1688, 1721, identical, except in date.

²⁹ K. B., C. P., H. L., Ex. Black letter, French and English. Formerly cited simply as Jones, or 1 Jones; 2 Jones being Sir Thomas Jones's Reports.

³² Aley. "Select Cases." English, black letter. Impressions, 1681, 1688, — probably the same.

³⁴ K. B., C. P., Ex. In French. Published in two parts. Part I. ("Les Reports, &c., proper") contains cases 1660-1670; Part II. goes back to 1657-1659, and gives cases decided in the "Upper Bench" before the Restoration. First edition of Part I., 1683; second edition, 1714. First edition of Part II., 1684; second, 1689; third, 1714.

In the 1714 edition of Siderfin, which was edited by Robert Dobyns, Edouard Chilton, and Robert Skinner, the two parts are usually bound together as one volume.

³⁶ Levinz. Parts I. and II., K. B.; Part III., C. P. First edition, three folio parts in French, 1702. Second edition with the original in French, and an English translation by Salkeld, in parallel columns, 3 parts, folio, in one or two volumes, 1722. Third edition all in English with the pleadings now first done into English by T. Vickers, 2 or 3 vols., 12mo, Dublin, 1793-1797, London, 1802.

First published in 2 parts, folio, in French and Latin, 1686; second edition, French and English, enlarged, 1722; Dublin edition, 3 vols., 8vo, 1791; third edition, in English, with notes by John Williams, 2 vols. in 8, octavo, 1799; fourth edition, 1809; fifth edition, notes by Patteson & E. V. Williams, 1824; sixth edition by E. V. Williams, 1845.

In 1871 "Notes to Saunders' Reports, by the late Serjeant Williams, continued to the present time by the Right Hon. Sir Edward Vaughan Williams," were published in two octavo volumes. This work, in connection with any of the editions of Saunders, as a text, may be considered as constituting the last and best edition of these reports.

American editions: first, 2 (sometimes bound as 3) vols., Philadelphia, 1807; second, 2 vols., Brookfield, 1816; third, 3 vols., Brookfield, 1825; the fourth edition the writer has never seen; fifth, 3 vols., 1833; sixth, 3 vols., Philadelphia, 1846, and New York, same date. These 1846 American editions seem to be the English 1845 edition with new titlepages. None of the American editions are either annotated or abridged.

³⁹ K. B., C. P. Formerly cited as 2 Jones, or Chief Justice Jones, to distinguish it from Sir W. Jones' Reports.

First edition in French, folio, 1695; second edition in French and English, parallel columns, 1729.

Editions 1696 and 1701 (apparently the same); third "impression" by Mr. Serjeant Richardson, 1716; fourth "impression," carefully corrected, with the addition of several thousands of references, 1726.

⁴¹ In all the Courts. "Arguments and Reports—in Some Special Cases—together with divers decrees in the High Court of Chancery."

Only one edition of Pollerfen. There are several mistakes in paging, for which see Bridgman, Clarke, Marvin, and Wallace.

⁴² "Modern Reports; or, Select Cases adjudged in the Courts of King's Bench, Chancery, Common Pleas, and Exchequer: The fifth edition, corrected, &c., by Thomas Leach."

So runs the common titlepage of the 1793-1796 edition, — the first in which all twelve volumes are collected and cited as Modern Reports. Only the first five were originally so called, as will be seen from the following schedule of the "Parts" (or "Volumes," as Leach for the first time calls them).

- I. "Modern Reports," &c. (as above) "since the Restauration of his Majesty King Charles II. Collected by a careful hand" (supposed to be Anthony Colquitt, and formerly sometimes cited under his name). Period, 1663-1677. Folio editions, 1682, 1700, 1720 (so, Worrall, Clarke, and Lincoln's Inn Catalogue: Wallace says 1738), 1757.
- II. "The Second Part of Modern Reports, being a Collection of Special Cases, most of them adjudged in the Court of Common Pleas," &c. Preface signed J. W. Supposed by Wallace to be Joseph Washington. Period, 1674-1682. Folio editions, 1698, 1725, 1757.
- III. "The Third Part of Modern Reports, being a Collection of Several Special Cases in the Court of King's Bench," &c. Editor unknown. Period, 1682-1690. Folio editions, 1700, 1725, 1757.
- IV. "The Fourth and Last Part," &c., as in Part III. Editor unknown. Period, 1691-1696. Folio editions, 1703, 1722, 1757.
- V. "The Fifth Part, being a Continuation of Several," &c., as in Parts III. and IV. The editor ("W. N.," supposed to be William Nelson) calls this, in his preface, "the last part" also. Period, 1690-1699. Folio editions, 1711, 1720, 1729 (Worrall says the third edition was dated 1739), 1757.
- VI. "Modern Cases" in Q. B. 2 and 3 Anne. Formerly cited as Modern Cases. Editor unknown. Period, 1703-1704. Folio editions, 1718, 1719, 1733, 1757.
- VII. "Modern Cases," &c., temp. Holt. Taken by Thomas Farresley. Formerly known as Modern Cases by Farresley, or simply as Farresley's Reports. Period, 1702-1703. Folio editions, 1716, 1725, 1757. In Leach's edition the size of this volume is trebled by the addition of new cases from the manuscripts of — Wright and Lake Benne, covering the years 1733-1744.
- VIII. & IX. First published as one folio volume, entitled Modern Cases at Law and Equity, and consisting of two parts paged separately: I. Cases in King's Bench (period, 1721-1726), and II. Cases in Chancery (period, 1712-1724). The volume of the latter is more than doubled in Leach's edition by the addition of Chancery cases (1739-1755) from the manuscripts of Samuel Salte and Charles Butler. These parts were formerly cited as "2 Modern Cases" (to distinguish from what is now Vol. VI.), "New Cases in Equity," or as "Equity Cases." Folio editions, 1730; second, corrected, 1769. The two parts were first separated into volumes in Leach's and the Dublin edition.
- X. "Cases in Law and Equity, chiefly," temp. Macclesfield. By Robert Lucas. Formerly cited as Cases temp. Macclesfield, or oftener as Lucas's Reports. Period, 1709-1725. Folio editions, 1736 (anonymous); 1741, identical with the first, except that Lucas's name is given on the titlepage; 1769.
- XI. "A Report of Cases" in K. B. temp. Queen Anne. Editor not known. Formerly cited as Reports or Cases temp. Queen Anne. Period, 1702-1710. Folio editions, 1737, 1769; "Second edition, with notes, &c., by Thomas Lutwyche," 1781. In Leach's edition large additions are made, of new cases, covering 1718-1730, from manuscripts of Jonathan Wells. Leach's edition, however, omits some of Lutwyche's improvement in the 1781 edition, which are given entire in the Dublin octavo edition.
- XII. "A Collection of Cases" in K. B. temp. William III. Formerly cited as Cases temp. William III. Editor unknown. Period, 1690-1702. Editions, 1738, 1769 (identical?).

[Worrall's Bibliotheca Legum of 1768 catalogues an edition of the twelve parts, all dated in that year. But this is evidently an error, as Clarke, Brooke, and later catalogues make no mention of this imprint.]

It may be noted that editions of Vols. 1-7 were all printed in 1757. These were edited by Danby Pickering. In 1769 new editions appeared of Vols. 8-12. Leach's⁴⁵ edition (London, 1793-1796) and the Dublin edition, 1794, each in 12 vols. octavo, are the first in which all the parts are grouped, under one title, as Modern Reports.

It may also be noted that the parts are not numbered chronologically, according to the periods covered.

See the full account in Wallace's Reporters, 4th ed., pp. 347-390.

⁴⁵ K. B., C. P., and a few cases in Ch. and Ex. Freeman's Law and Chancery Reports (now in separate volumes) were first published together in one volume, folio, in 1742. They were often cited 1 and 2 Freeman, respectively.

This 1826 edition (octavo) was edited and improved by Edward Smirke. It retains the few Chancery cases which were printed among the K. B. and C. P. cases of the original folio edition, and which are reprinted in the appendix to the last edition of Freeman's Chancery Reports.

⁴⁶ Shower. Edited by George Butt. Although this edition was prepared from the Janadowne Manuscript, and ought to be considered more complete, it is in such small type, — the two volumes being compressed into the space of one, — that it is not in favor, preference being generally given to the previous edition, 2 vols., 1794, with notes by Thomas Leach. The first volume (containing cases 1658-1694) was originally printed in folio, in 1708; the second (containing earlier cases, 1678-1687) not until 1720.

⁴⁷ "By Robert Skinner. Published by his son, Matthew Skinner."

⁴⁸ "Collected by Roger Comberbach. Published by his son, Roger Comberbach."

⁴⁹ "By Thomas Carthew; published by his son, Thomas Carthew." First edition, 1728. Second edition, with additional references, 1741, sometimes dated 1743.

The citation "Cases in B. R. temp. Holt," mentioned by Bridgman (Leg. Bib. 54), refers to Cases concerning Settlements, for which see Settlement Cases, further on.

Vols. 1 and 2 are paged consecutively in all the editions. The arrangement of cases is not chronological, but by subjects alphabetically.

⁵⁴ K. B., C. P., Ex., Ch. Editions of Comyns, 1 vol., folio, 1744; Dublin, 1 vol., octavo, 1791, notes by MacNally; London, "second edition," 2 vols., octavo, paged consecutively, notes by Rose, 1792.

Appended to the reports are treatises by Baron Gilbert on the Action of Debt and on the English Constitution.

First edition, London, 1760; second, revised, &c., Dublin, 1792.

For a volume sometimes cited as "the octavo Strange," see "Select Cases relating to Evidence," under the head of Miscellaneous, further on.

⁵⁵ Fitzgibbon, K. B., Ch., C. P., Ex.

⁵⁶ Reprinted, without change, from the second folio edition of 1764, "to which" were "added seventy new cases, not in former editions." The first edition appeared in 1740. The volume consists of two parts; the first (pp. 1-43, and Index) contains Chancery Cases, 1730-1732, the second (pp. 57-299) contains King's Bench cases, 1731-1734. It has been cited as 2 Kelynge, to distinguish it from 1 (or J.) Kelyng. Note, however, the difference in spelling. As to the reprint of 1873, see n. 2, p. 73.

⁵⁷ Ridgeway, temp. Hardwicke. This is the same volume already catalogued with the Chancery Reports. See p. 75.

⁵⁸ Cunningham. Previous editions, folio, 1766, 1770. The same except date. The titlepage says, "Cases in 7, 8, 9, and 10 Geo. II.;" but only Part I., containing cases 7 and 8 George II., was ever published. The third edition (small quarto, 1871) was revised and corrected by Thomas T. Bucknill. See n. 2, p. 73.

Supposed to have been edited by Annaly, and sometimes cited in his name. Cited also as Rep. temp. Hard.; Cas. temp. Hard.; Lee's Cas. temp. Hard.; or Lee & Hardwicke.

In 1815 Thomas Lee edited an octavo edition ("the second") with many corrections and improvements. Since then the citation has been Lee temp. Hard.

⁶³ Kenyon. Marvin (Legal Bibliography) catalogues these reports incorrectly, under the name of the editor, Job W. Hammer.

Vol. 2 is in two parts: Part I. (K. B.), 580 pages, being followed abruptly by Part II. (Chancery, 1753-1754), 156 pages, which includes two indexes. The latter has been cited as 3 Kenyon, or Kenyon's Chancery.

There has been but one edition of Kenyon.

⁶⁴ "Notes of Opinions and Judgments delivered in different courts," by the Right Hon. Sir John E. Wilmot.

⁶⁵ In the early folio editions of Burrow the titlepage to Vol. 1 reads thus: "Reports of Cases," &c. "in four parts, distributed to the Times of Lord Hardwicke, Sir William Lee, Sir Dudley Ryder, and Lord Mansfield. Part the fourth: Volume the first." The reporter thus took up the last period (Lord Mansfield's) of his intended plan, prolonged it through five volumes, and never went back to the other three.

Editions, folio, London, 1766-1780, with a third edition of Vols. 1 and 2 in 1777, and a second edition of Vol. 3 in 1779; Dublin, 1785, 5 vols., octavo, being fourth edition of Vol. 1, and third edition of the other volumes; fourth of Vols. 1 and 2, third of Vol. 3, second of Vols. 4 and 5, octavo, London, 1790; "fifth," Dublin, 1785, 5 vols.; "fifth" of Vols. 1 and 2, fourth of Vol. 3, third of Vols. 4 and 5, with critical notes by Mr. Serjeant Hill, London, 1812.

American editions, 5 vols., octavo, reprinted in full, without notes, Philadelphia, 1808; 5 vols. in 2, octavo (condensed), New York, 1838.

All the editions of Burrow are paged consecutively throughout.

⁶⁸ Vols. 1 and 2 of Douglas were first published in folio, 1782 or 1783; second edition (a reprint, with additions and notes in a separate pamphlet), folio, 1786, and Dublin, in 1 vol., octavo, 1789; third edition, 2 vols., octavo, London, 1790; "fourth edition," 2 vols., octavo, notes by W. Frere, 1818, — each edition being an improvement on its predecessor. American edition, a reprint, without notes, from the third English edition, 2 vols., octavo, Philadelphia, 1807.

Vols. 3 and 4 were edited (from the manuscripts of Douglas and others) by W. Frere and H. Roscoe, and published for the first time in London, octavo, 1831. These volumes are republished in Vol. 26 of the "English Common Law" reprint; Vols. 1 and 2 being omitted, probably on account of the previous American republication in 1807.

Editions, 8 vols., folio, 1787-1800; Dublin, 8 vols., octavo, 1788-1800; 8 vols., octavo, London, 1794-1802; 8 vols., octavo, 1817. American editions, octavo reprints, without new notes, 8 vols., 1811; 8 vols. in 4 (giving head-notes only, of such cases as were deemed unimportant in America); published at Brookfield, 1827, but often found with date of Philadelphia, 1827, or New York, 1834.

⁷¹ Vols. 1 to 5 of Maule and Selwyn (Vol. 6 was not published in England until 1829) were reprinted in Boston in 1819-1823; Vol. 6 was reprinted in 1833; and the whole six volumes were condensed by Metcalf into two volumes, Boston, 1832.

3 B. & Al. in 5 E. C. L.

5 B. & Al. in 7 E. C. L.

The first part of 1 B. & Al. was edited by Selwyn & Barnewall, and has been so cited.

Best & Smith continued their reports in rivalry with the Law Reports. 7-10 B. & S. (which were not reprinted in the "English Common Law Reports") cover the same years as 1-6 L. R., Q. B. These latter volumes contain all (or almost all) of the cases reported in the former, although in different form, besides additional cases.

⁸¹ Already catalogued, see pp. 69, 70.

reprinted in volumes. Vol. 1 appeared in 1804, and was reprinted in a "second edition corrected," but not otherwise improved, in 1806.

J. P. Smith contains a few cases in C. P. and Ch.

⁸⁵ The preface to 1 Dowling & Ryland calls that series "The New Term Reports," but apparently they were never so cited. Dowling & Ryland's Nisi Prius Report (one part only) is sometimes bound up with this volume.

Those cases only which were not contained in the authorized or regular reports (Barnewall & Cresswell), covering the same period, are reprinted in the "English Common Law Reports," as follows:—

1-8 D. & R. in 16 E. C. L.

9 D. & R. in 22 E. C. L.

⁸⁶ Those cases in Vols. 1 and 2 (only) of Manning & Ryland, which were not contained in Barnewall & Cresswell, are reprinted in 17 "English Common Law Reports."

1, 2, 3 N. & M. in 28 E. C. L.

5, 6 N. & M. in 36 E. C. L.

⁸⁸ Those cases in Vol. 1 (only) of Nevile & Perry, which were not reported in Adolphus & Ellis, are reprinted in 36 "English Common Law Reports."

⁸⁹ The reports now known and catalogued under the names of Arnold, Arnold & Hodges, Drinkwater, Gale, Harrison & Wollaston, Hodges, Horn & Hurlstone, Hurlstone & Walmsley, Murphy & Hurlstone, Willmore Wollaston & Davison, Willmore Wollaston, & Hodges, and Wollaston, were originally published as a series under the name of "THE NEW TERM REPORTS" (and were for a time so cited). They were thus catalogued in 1845:—

"Term Reports (New) in all the Common Law Courts; reported in the Queen's Bench, by Harrison, Wollaston, Willmore, Davison, Hodges, and Arnold:

Common Pleas, by Hodges, Arnold, and Drinkwater:

Exchequer, by Gale, Murphy, Hurlstone, Horn, & Walmsley:

Bail Court and Practice Cases, by Harrison, Wollaston, Willmore, Davison, Hodges, and Arnold:

— from Hilary Term, 1835, to Easter Term, 1841. 34 parts."

These reports have been sometimes bound up as "Pheney's Term Reports," Pheney being one of the publishers. They can be recognized in detached parts by the running-title of the pages "Term Reports in the" Queen's Bench (or other court), and by the dates.

⁹⁰ Only two parts (128 pages; no title or index) of 2 Willmore, Wollaston, & Hodges were published.

AMERICAN REPRINT: ENGLISH COMMON LAW REPORTS.

A reprint of the King's Bench, Bail Court, Common Pleas, and Nisi Prius Reports was commenced in Philadelphia (in parts, afterwards bound as volumes), in 1813, and was continued down to the time of the Law Reports. With Vol. 118 the series ceased, being succeeded by the Philadelphia reprint of the Law Reports.

The early volumes were at first condensed by the omission of cases thought to be unimportant; but in a preface to Vol. 40, the publishers announced that this condensation had caused complaint, and that all future volumes would be reprinted in full. [Of the two original volumes included in the first edition of Vol. 40, one, 12 A. & E., was condensed, and the other, 2 Manning & Granger, was reprinted in full.] The first forty volumes were afterwards reprinted in full, and the series as now sold is a reprint without abridgment; except that, in case of reports in the "Collateral Series," those cases in the original volumes which duplicate cases in the regular series are omitted from the reprint. Although the volumes are not so attractive as the English originals, they are accurate, and the series (in its present uncondensed form) can be commended to American lawyers.

Of the first, or condensed, edition, Vols. 1-23 were edited by Thomas Sergeant and John C. Lowber (they were sometimes labelled and cited Sergeant & Lowber's Reports); Vols. 24-29, by Thomas Sergeant; Vols. 30-40, by Thomas Sergeant and Thomas McK. Pettit. Vols. 1-40 of the new uncondensed edition of these volumes, and Vols. 41-65 of the whole series, bear on their titlepages the words "Heretofore condensed by Hon. Thomas Sergeant and Hon. Thomas McKean Pettit" (or, in four volumes, "Thomas Sergeant and John C. Lowber") "Now REPRINTED IN FULL." Vols. 66-118 contain notes and references by George Sharswood, Henry Wharton, and James Parsons, successively.

Of the reporters reprinted in this series, several are only partially reprinted. Thus, the "English Common Law Reports" contain, —

3, 4 Douglas	but not Vols. 1 and 2.
3, 4, 5 Barnewall & Alderson	" " 1 and 2.
1-6 Best & Smith	" " 7-10.
1, 2 Manning & Ryland	" " 8-5.
1 Nevile & Perry	" " 2, 3.
5-8 Taunton	" " 1-4.
2, 3, 4 Scott	" " 1, and 5-8.
1, 2 Carrington & Kirwan	" " 3.
1 Deacon	" " 2-4.

Of these, good American reprints of the omitted volumes of Douglas, Barnewall & Alderson, and Taunton had appeared shortly before the English Common Law Reports series was begun, so that it was probably thought unwise to duplicate them. The later volumes of Best & Smith were rivals, and duplicated the cases, of the Law Reports; and the other series, being all "collateral" or "opposition," were probably deemed unimportant.

An index to Vols. 1-47, by Sharswood & Biddle, was published in 1847, and was usually numbered on the back 47*. This was superseded in 1862 by a later Index, by Biddle & McMurtrie, in 2 vols., covering Vols. 1-83, with a third (supplementary) volume by Pennypacker, Platt, and Hollingsworth, published in 1879, and covering Vols. 84-118.

There is much confusion of citations in the old books between this Benloe (known as Old Benloe) and the Benloe K. B. (New Benloe, see n. 12, p. 91), whose appellations were sometimes reversed, and between the reports by Dalison and Benloe in Ashe's Tables, reprinted at the end of Keilway (see n. 8, p. 91), and this volume. Marvin and Bridgman deal inadequately with this confusion, which is better treated in Bishop's First Book of the Law (n. 4, p. 365), and in Wallace's Reporters, n. 2, p. 118, though the "painful exegesis" of the latter dwells with difficulty in the reader's memory.

Benloe commences with a case in 1857, then gives a few cases in the reigns of Henry VI. and Henry VII. and the early years of Henry VIII., and commences reports of consecutive years from 24 Henry VIII., the year given above for the beginning of the period of his volume.

The modern spelling is Benloe, but there is as much doubt as to the correct orthography of this name as there is on Shakespeare's. In different places, in the four publications of this reporter, it is printed as Benloe, Bendloe, Benloes, Benlowes, and Bendloes. The latter form seems to have the weight of authority, but custom has settled down upon Benloe.

² Anderson. In French. Part I. published 1664; Part II. (with cases in the Court of Wards), 1665. These parts are paged separately, but are usually found bound together as one volume.

³ In two parts, the first by Brownlow & Goldesborough; the second by Brownlow alone. Part I. was first published in 1651, and a second edition in 1654. Part II. was published in 1652. A third edition of Part I. and a second of Part II. were published in one volume (but paged separately) in 1675. The earlier citation was by parts, as 1st and 2d Brownlow, Goldesborough's name being alighted.

⁴ Savile, C. P. and Ex. In French. Editions, 1675 and 1688; apparently the same except in date.

⁸ Littleton, C. P. and Ex. Only one edition.

⁹ Hetley was "appointed by the King and Judges for one of the Reporters of the Law," being the only reporter by appointment, apparently, from the Year Books to the present time.

¹¹ Carter is not readily recognized from its titlepage, which reads "Reports of Several Cases" — "in the Time when Sir Orlando Bridgman Sate Chief Justice there. To which are added some cases Adjudged in the Time of Chief Justice Vaughan. By S. C." These initials (signed also to the preface) stand for Samuel Carter.

¹³ Already catalogued under the K. B. Reports, p. 86. It is in two parts, paged separately, but bound together. Part II. contains C. P. cases, 1669-1690.

¹⁴ Lutwyche. In Latin and French; arranged by subjects, alphabetically, and entitled "Un Livre des Entries; contenant auxi Reports." It was first published in folio, in 2 vols., in 1704. A translation by William Nelson (and to some extent an abridgment) of the reports only, without the entries, was published in one volume, folio, in 1718. This is said by Viner and others to be a poor edition. Another translation of the reports, with an abstract of the pleadings, and references to the original paging, was also published in 1718, in two volumes octavo.

¹⁶ Previous editions of Cooke, 1740 or 1742, and "second edition, with additional references," 1747.

The third edition of 1872 contains additional cases, &c., edited by Thomas T. Bucknill. See n. 2, p. 73.

The titlepage reads, "Reports of Cases of Practice in the Court of Common Pleas in the reigns of Queen Anne, King George I., and King George II. By a late eminent hand." Cooke's name does not appear, the dedication being signed by "The Editors."

¹⁷ "Notes of Cases on Points of Practice in the Court of Common Pleas." Arranged by subjects, alphabetically. Known as Barnes' Notes or Barnes' Cases of Practice. It is usually found catalogued among the K. B. Reports, though it belongs there no more than Cooke does.

Editions, 1 vol., octavo (covering only 1732-1739), 1741 (so, Lincoln's Inn catalogue); octavo, 1754, with a Supplement in 1756; quarto, 1772; octavo, Dublin, "second edition, revised and corrected," 1788. The editions of 1754-1756, 1772, and 1788 come down only to 1756. The edition of 1790 ("the third") has additional cases to 1760.

Parts II. and III., by far the larger portion of the work, contain C. P. cases (1753-1774).

Editions, 3 parts, folio, bound as two volumes; Vol. 1 (including Parts I. and II.), 1770; Vol. 2 (Part III.), 1775; second edition, in the same form, 1779-1784; third edition, improved, 3 vols., octavo, 1799; fourth edition (sic), 3 vols., octavo, Dublin, 1792.

¹⁹ Willes. C. P., H. L., Ch., Ex. Cham. Edited by Charles Durnford. Editions, folio, 1799, octavo, 1800 (not otherwise different), and an American reprint in full, without notes, Phila., 1802.

²⁰ H. Blackstone. C. P., Ex. Cham. The 1837 edition by Meymott is printed in small type, and thus condensed from two volumes into one. The previous edition, 2 vols., 1827, is much preferred. Other editions, 2 vols., folio, 1793, 1796; 2 vols., 12mo, Dublin, 1789, 1792-1796, 1800; octavo, third edition, London, 1801; fourth edition, 1827. American reprint, Phila., 1808-1809.

There have been two American editions in octavo, one at Philadelphia, 1803-1809; another, edited by Day, at Hartford, 1810-1811.

The American editions of Bosanquet & Puller, and of their New Reports, are usually, and the English editions occasionally, bound as one set in five volumes, and the New Reports are often cited, accordingly, as 4 and 5 B. & P.

The cases of Bosanquet & Puller proper begin with 1797; but at the end of Vol. 1 there are cases in 1796, from notes taken by Mr. A. Moore. In the folio edition (1800) these seem to have been sometimes bound separately, and to have been cited as A. Moore's Reports. See Clarke's Bibliotheca Legum (edition of 1810), p. 364.

At the conclusion of this series, the authorized reporters, Manning & Granger, got rid of a dangerous rival by inducing the opposition reporter, Scott, to join forces with them. In 1845 commence the "Common Bench Reports" of Manning, Granger, & Scott.

²⁷ Common Bench. Vols. 1 to 8 reported by Manning, Granger, & Scott; Vol. 9 by Manning & Scott; Vols. 10 to 18, and all of the New Series, reported by John Scott. The early volumes, as succeeding Manning & Granger, have been sometimes cited as Manning, Granger, & Scott.

An index, making a nineteenth volume, accompanies the English edition of the Common Bench Reports.

2 Scott in 30 E. C. L. 3, 4 Scott in 36 E. C. L.

The other volumes of Scott, and the "New Reports," were not included in the reprint.

⁴⁰ Only five parts of Drinkwater (240 pages, no title or index) were published.

⁴¹ When Scott acceded to the scheme of the Council of Law Reporting, and became reporter of the Law Reports Common Pleas, Messrs. Harrison & Rutherford commenced the publication, in parts, of these rival reports, which were, however, discontinued upon the completion of one volume.

REGISTRATION APPEAL CASES.

["Cases decided in the Court of Common Pleas on Appeal from the Decisions of the Revising Barristers," in relation to the registration of voters. These Cases are usually catalogued just after the Election Cases, but seem rather to belong with the decisions of the court in which they were heard.]

Editions, folio, French, 1661; English, 1784; and a translation in English, with many references by Theodore Barlow, folio, 1771 or 1777. Bridgman and Wallace say that the second edition (1784) was in English; Marvin, that it was in French. A copy in the Harvard Law Library shows that the former are correct. See also the Hartwell Law Catalogue, p. 129.

² English, black letter. The titlepage of Lane says that the volume contains "the first collections in that Court" (Exchequer) "hitherto extant." This is true; for Jenkins, although it contains earlier cases, was not published until 1661.

⁸ Wightwick contains one case in 1754.

²⁰ The Preface calls M'Clelland the first volume of the Exchequer New Reports.

²⁴ Always cited as "Exchequer Reports." Vols. 10 and 11 were reported by Hurlstone & Gordon.

²⁵ Reprinted in America; see below.

²⁹ "Notes of Points of Practice ruled in the Exchequer of Pleas, and the Cases at Law and in Revenue, argued and determined in the Court of Exchequer and the Courts of Error and Appeal." By George Price. Only Part I. of this volume (pp. xvi and 184, without title or index) was issued.

AMERICAN REPRINT OF EXCHEQUER REPORTS.

The following reports were reprinted in full in Philadelphia, 1853-1869; not irregularly, as in the reprints of English Common Law and English Chancery Reports, but in sets, chronologically.

M'Clelland & Younge, 1 vol.

Younge & Jervis, 3 vols.

Crompton & Jervis, 2 vols.

Crompton, Meeson, & Roscoe, 2 vols.

Meeson & Welsby, 16 vols.

Exchequer Reports, 11 vols.

Hurlstone & Norman, 7 vols.

Hurlstone & Coltman, Vols. 1 to 3.

(Vol. 4 has not been reprinted.)

In all, this excellent reprint comprises 47 vols. It is known as the "English Exchequer Reports." If the American edition is cited, the name, volume, and page of the original reporter should be given, either in addition to, or without, the abbreviation, "Eng. Ex."

The "Exchequer Digest," 1 vol., 1855, a companion to this reprint, indexes the volumes from M'Clelland & Younge down to and including 9 Exchequer Reports (Welsby, Hurlstone, & Gordon).

Although Haggard's Consistory Reports and Phillimore cover the same years, only seven cases are duplicated.

⁴ Only one part (284 pages) of 3 Addams was ever published. It lacks title and index.

Supplements to Vols. 1 and 2 contain cases 1700-1827.

⁶ The Appendix to 3 Curteis gives one case in 1790.

⁷ Only three parts (648 pages, no title or index) of 2 Robertson were published. The last page breaks off in the middle of a case.

This volume is sometimes numbered outside "I.," but no other volume was issued.

STILLINGFLEET'S ECCLESIASTICAL CASES. 2 vols., 1702-1704. These are not reports of decisions, but "Cases" (or questions) "stated and resolved according to the principles of conscience and law," by Edward Stillingfleet, Lord Bishop of Worcester.

BRODERICK & FREMANTLE (1 vol., 1865); Ecclesiastical Cases relating to Doctrine and discipline, collected from the authorized reports for the use of the clergy.

BROOKE: Six Judgments of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in Ecclesiastical Cases, 1850-1872. 3d edition, 1874.

DALE: Legal Ritual. The Judgments delivered by the Privy Council and Dean of Arches in three recent cases. A Guide for Incumbents, &c. 1871.

PHILLIMORE: Principal Ecclesiastical Judgments in the Court of Arches, 1867-1875. Published, 1876.

To these might be added, with more propriety, —

HALE: Precedents and Proceedings in Criminal Causes, 1475-1640; extracted from the Act-Books of Ecclesiastical Courts in the Diocese of London. With an Introductory Essay. 1847.

¹³ Only Parts 1 and 2 of Searle & Smith were published; 160 pages, with no title or index.

¹⁴ AMERICAN REPRINTS. In 1831-1845 a series of seven volumes, entitled "ENGLISH ECCLESIASTICAL REPORTS," was published in Philadelphia, omitting cases (not the head-notes, which are always given) supposed to be of no importance in this country, but otherwise republishing, without any notes of value, the following reports. The editors were Edward D. Ingraham (Vols. 1-6) and Benjamin Gerhard (Vol. 7).

In Vol. 1, Eng. Eccl., 1, 2, 8 Phillimore.

It will be noted that 4 Haggard was not reprinted.

HOLT, ADMIRALTY CASES ¹²	1	Holt Adm.	1867	1863-1867

¹ This volume is entitled "Law of Contraband of War: with a Selection of Cases from the Papers of the Right Hon. Sir George Lee, LL.D.," &c. By Frederic T. Pratt. The introduction (1xx pages), discussing the subject of Contraband of War, is followed by the cases and appendixes, 342 pages.

² Entitled Vol. 1; no other volume published. It is entitled "Decisions during the time of Sir George Hay and Sir James Marriott. It is said to have been compiled by Marriott, and is usually cited under his name, though sometimes known as "Hay & Marriott."

⁶ Already catalogued among the Ecclesiastical Reports, p. 112.

⁸ Already catalogued. See p. 112.

⁹ These are reprints from the Law Times Reports.

¹⁰ These volumes are anonymous. Vol. 1 was published by John Crockford, and the reports are sometimes called by his name, though Vols. 2 and 3 were published by Cox. They are also known as Maritime Reports, First Series.

¹² "Admiralty Court Cases on the Rule of the Road." Many of these cases are not in the regular reports or in the law journals.

In Vol. 1, Eng. Adm., 1, 2 Chr. Robinson.

3	"	5, 6	"
4	"	{ Edwards. (Hay &) Marriott. Selections from 2, 3 Knapp, and 1, 2, 3, 4, 6, 7 Moore's Privy Council Reports.

There is no paging in this reprint, except that of the original reports.

Editions, folio, 1708, 1739 (identical, except in date); Dublin, 12mo, 1789; London, small 4to, with thirteen additional cases, and a reprint of a "Treatise on the Law of High Treason," the whole edited by R. L. Loveland, 1873. See n. 2, p. 73.

² Foster is half report, half treatise. It is entitled "Report of Some Proceedings in the Trial of the Rebels of the Year 1746, and of other Crown Cases." In the Appendix are "Discourses" on High Treason, Homicide, and Accomplices.

Editions, folio, 1762; Dublin, octavo, 1767; second edition, octavo, corrected with notes by Michael Dodson, 1776; Dublin, octavo, 1791; third edition, with notes and three additional cases by Dodson, 1792; the same, without further changes, 1809.

³ The editions of Leach were 1 vol., London and Dublin, 1789; London, 1792; third edition, 2 vols., 1800; fourth edition, 2 vols., 1815. Each edition brings the cases down to date, with a different paging. The last edition is much the best.

⁵ Ryan assisted in reporting the earlier cases in 1 Moody.

⁶ Denison, Vol. 2, was reported by Denison & Pearce, and has been sometimes so cited.

⁸ Dearsly & Bell is entitled Vol. 1, but no other volume was issued by these reporters.

⁹ Temple & Mew report cases in the Court of Criminal Appeal. Entitled Vol. 1, though no other was issued.

¹⁰ Already catalogued. See pp. 69 and 70.

The best cases from Cox (beginning with Vol. 12) are reprinted in Moak's "English Reports." See p. 73.

¹² An excellent reprint in full, sometimes entitled BRITISH CROWN CASES, sometimes ENGLISH CROWN CASES, with notes to Vol. 3 by John William Wallace, and to Vols. 4, 5, 6 by Hon. George Sharwood, was published in Philadelphia, 1839-1853.

Vol. 1 Eng. C. C. contains Russell & Ryan. Vol. 4 Eng. C. C. contains 2 Moody.

2 " " 1 Moody. 5 " " 1 Denison.

3 " " Jebb (Irish). 6 " " 2 Denison.

This reprint is also occasionally bound up under the reporters' names.

² This is rather a treatise, with forms, than a volume of reports; but it contains a few cases.

Vol. 2 was published in 1829, under the title of "Additional Cases, by Thomas Peake," with notes by Thomas Peake, Jun.

The volumes, being thin, are often bound together as one volume.

⁴ The editions of 'Epinassee are rather mixed. Vol. 1 was originally published in 1796; Vol. 2, pagged right on from Vol. 1, in 1798. Vol. 1 was republished in Dublin, 1797; Vol. 2 in 1800. A "second edition" of Vol. 1 was published in London, in 1801; a "second edition corrected" of Vols. 1 and 2 in one volume, in 1803. Vols. 3-6 were published at various dates, from 1802 to 1811.

Vol. 1 was reprinted in Baltimore, 1795; Vols. 1-5, in Philadelphia, 1805-1808; Vols. 1-5, Hartford, 1808, with notes by Thomas Day (5 vols. in 3); and Marvin says that 6 vols. (in 3), Day's edition, were published at Hartford, in 1823.

⁵ Vols. 1 and 2 were reprinted in New York, 1810-1811; Vols. 3 and 4, with notes by Samuel Howe, were reprinted in New York, 1821.

⁶ Only one part of 3 Starkie (188 pages, without index) was published. A titlepage was struck off in 1872, and added to the copies still on hand.

Vols. 1 and 2 were reprinted in full, without additions, at Exeter, N. H., in 1823; and the three volumes were reprinted in the "English Common Law Reports," —

1 Starkie in 2 E. C. L.

2, 3 Starkie in 8 E. C. L.

1, 2 C. & P. in 12 E. C. L.

6 C. & P. in 25 E. C. L.

8 " " 34 "

⁹ Carrington & Marshman was reprinted in full in Vol. 41 of the "English Common Law Reports."

2 Car. & K. in 61 E. C. L.

Of 3 Carrington & Kirwan, only two parts (378 pages, without title or index) were published.

¹¹ Entitled Vol. 1. No other volume ever issued. Holt was reprinted in full in Vol. 8 of the "English Common Law Reports."

¹² Gow was reprinted in full in Vol. 5 of the "English Common Law Reports."

¹³ Ryan & Moody was reprinted in full in Vol. 21 of the "English Common Law Reports."

¹⁴ Moody & Malkin is entitled Vol. 1, but no other volume was published. It is reprinted in full in Vol. 22 of the "English Common Law Reports."

Vol. 1 is by various reporters; Vol. 2 by Bittleston and Wise; Vol. 3 (of which only two parts, 216 pages, without title or index, were published) by Bittleston and Parnell. The Bail Court reporter in Vol. 1 is T. W. Saunders, who followed up this series by Saunders & Cole's Reports.

⁸ The preface to Saunders & Cole says, "It is proposed to cite these reports as the Bail Court Reports, and to use the following form of quotation, — 'B. C. R.'"

¹⁰ Cases in the Supreme Court of Judicature, illustrative of the New System of Practice and Pleading.

To Vols. 1 and 2 are appended "Reports of Cases decided at Judges' Chambers," with separate paging. These are sometimes bound separately, in one volume. Vol. 3 contains an index to the three volumes.

Vol. 7 adds "Joint Stock Companies" to the subjects treated in the cases, and is not reprinted in the Boston edition of 1854, which includes, in six volumes, under the title "English Railway & Canal Cases," Vols. 1-6 of the originals, with American notes by Samuel W. There were editions in 1786 and 1790, and a Dublin reprint (octavo) in 1790. These contained only 388 pages. The 1800 edition has 593 pages, with Table of Principal Matters. Some copies of the quarto with the earlier imprints appear also to have pages 389 to 593 added, and to be complete.

³ Only two parts (398 pages, no titles or index) were published.

⁶ Reports of all the Cases in the Superior Courts, relating to Magistrates', Municipal, and Parochial Law, reprinted from the Law Times Reports. Edited by Edward W. Cox.

² "A Collection of Decisions of the K. B. upon the Poor Laws" was published anonymously, in one volume, in 1771; with subsequent editions, by E. Bott, in 1 vol., 1773; and 2 vols., 1798. "Bott's Decisions, fourth edition, by Const," appeared in 3 vols., 1800. The 1807 edition is entitled "Laws relating to the Poor, by Francis Const, Fifth edition in 3 vols.;" Const having absorbed Bott. The sixth edition was edited by John Tidd Pratt, and his name supplanted, in turn, that of Const. A supplementary volume by Pratt was published in 1833.

² Decrees by the Court of Exchequer in Tithe Causes. Eagle & Younge appear to have reprinted about half of Wood's cases.

The County Courts Chronicle is still current, in its 28th volume. Only Vols. 1-13, however, as given above, contain reports of cases, intermingled with other matter, except in Vols. 5, 6, 12, and 13, in which the reports are paged separately. Since 1860 the Chronicle and reports have been printed and bound separately; the former in folio form, the latter in octavo.

Of the Chronicle, Vols. 1, and 7-18, are folio; Vols. 2-6 are octavo.

² "New County Court Cases," by Roberts, Leeming, & Wallis, should contain only five parts, or 576 pages, of "Vol. 1," without title or index.

³ Vol. 1 of the County Court Cases was reported by COX, MACRAE, & HERTSLET, and is usually bound separately under that title. Vols. 2 and 3, reported by SAUNDERS & MACRAE, are usually bound as COUNTY COURT CASES, 2 and 3, but appear to be often cited as Saunders & Macrae, 1 and 2. Vol. 3 contains only 286 pages, without index.

Vol. 2 contains also 80 pages of Insolvency Cases, pagged separately.

² "Concerning the Persons and Estates of all Men Whatsoever. Collected and gathered out of the Reports and Year-Books of the Common Law of England." Impressions, 1641, 1648. This seems to be only a compilation of cases reported elsewhere.

"A Select Collection of Cases by a Solicitor" (152 pages, 1825) is a similar book, which contains also two cases in the House of Lords "not elsewhere reported."

⁵ "Interesting Cases" in several courts of England and Ireland, with a treatise on Military Law. Dublin. See p. 131.

ELECTION CASES.

[These cases, from Glanville to Wolferstan & Bristowe inclusive, are inserted here because they are included in all the English catalogues. They seem out of place, however (as well as the Arbitration and Parliamentary Cases given above), in a list of law reports, being simply reports of committees of Parliament on contested election cases. They correspond to our "Contested Elections in Congress."

O'Malley & Hardcastle, however, report cases decided in court, under a change in the law, and are properly placed among judicial decisions.]

ENGLISH LAW AND EQUITY

REPORTS ⁴	40	Eng. L. & Eq.	1851-18	1850-1857
--------------------------------	----	---------------	---------	-----------

² These constituted one of the many abortive attempts at systematic reporting, which finally led up to the present system.

³ Edited, on the Equity Side, by George O. Morgan and Charles E. Jemett; on the Common Law Side, by Henry T. Atkinson, John B. Maule, and J. Morgan Howard, with various reporters in the different courts.

⁴ This was a Boston reprint—published in periodical parts and taken chiefly from the English law journals—of all the cases reported in England from all the courts. It commenced with 16 Q. B., 10 C. B., and 5 Ex., and continued for seven years. It was digested in the annual volumes of the United States Digest covering the period of its publication, and is often referred to in the books of that decade. But as the reports from which the cases are taken are not always indicated, the series is now of little practical value. An Index to Vols. 1-31 was published in 1857.

LAW JOURNAL REPORTS.
	Vols.	Abbreviations.	Last English edition.	Period covered.
THE LAW JOURNAL (Old Series) ¹	9	L. J. O. S.	1822-1831	1822-1831
THE LAW JOURNAL REPORTS (New Series) ²	51	L. J.	1832-1881	1831-1881
THE LAW TIMES REPORTS ³	[See note 3, below.]			1843-1881
WEEKLY REPORTER	29	W. Rep.	1852-1882	1852-1882

² Published in monthly parts, and "containing all decided cases of value to the profession." The reports from different courts were paged separately, and cited as L. J. Ch.; L. J. Bank.; L. J. Q. B.; L. J. C. P.; L. J. Ex.; L. J. P. & M.; L. J. Adm.; L. J. Eccl.; L. J. P. C.; L. J. M. C., respectively.

From 1881 they have been grouped and paged in volumes so as to make, in each year, —

1. A Chancery volume (including Bankruptcy), cited as L. J. Ch.
2. A Queen's Bench, Pleas, and Exchequer volume, " L. J. Q. B.
3. A Probate, Divorce, and Admiralty volume, " L. J. Prob.
4. A Privy Council volume, " L. J. P. C.
5. A Magistrates' Cases volume, " L. J. M. C.
6. A volume of Public Statutes of the Realm.

These bind conveniently each year in three or four volumes as may be preferred. Every fifth year an Analytical Digest is published, the last one out being the twelfth (1881). Synoptical tables are also published from time to time, to show the regular reports, which correspond in date with the separate volumes of the New Series.

It is difficult to state how many actual volumes a complete set of the Law Journal Reports should have; for the arrangement in volumes for binding varies with the taste of the owner or binder. The number given above is the technical number of volumes, by years, to the end of 1882.

The current LAW JOURNAL is a different thing from the Law Journal Reports, being a weekly legal newspaper, giving varied information, and also "Notes of Cases" in advance of their publication in the reports.

³ The Law Times is a folio weekly newspaper, now numbering 71 bound volumes. From the beginning it contained very full reports of cases from all the courts. In the first sixteen volumes these were intermingled with such other matter as is usually found in a legal periodical. In Vols. 17-34, the reports of cases were issued weekly with the newspaper, but paged separately. Each volume between these limits contains, therefore, a volume of newspaper and a volume of reports, in folio, paged separately. With Vol. 35, and subsequently, the reports, though published in weekly numbers with the newspaper, have been printed in octavo form, and bound up under the title "The Law Reporter: Law Times Reports, New Series," with a new numbering.

The full set of Law Times and Reports, therefore, comprises, —

- Law Times, Vols. 1-16, folio, 1843-1851, newspaper containing reports.
 " " 17-34, " 1851-1860, newspaper and reports paged separately.
 " " 35-71, " 1860-1881, newspaper with County

Court and Nisi Prius Cases only.

Law Times Reports, N.S., called also, up to Vol. 8, The Law Reporter. Vols. 1-44, 8vo, 1859-1881,

Reports only.

Contemporaneous.

The citation should be for the Law Times, L. T.; for the reports in Vols. 17-34, L. T. Rep.; for the Reports, New Series, L. T. Rep. N. S.: the latter are, however, often cited merely L. T. Rep.

Cox's Magistrates' Cases, the two Series of "Maritime Cases," and some other reports are reprinted from the volumes of the Law Times Reports, N. S.

² The Supplement to Fisher's Digest covers all the Courts and the law journals, with selections from the Irish Reports. It was first issued in annual numbers, which have been consolidated and arranged by Chitty & Mew.

[There have been several publications of the current statutes, also, in connection with different law journals.]

² Seventh edition. "By authority."

³ Vols. 1-46 edited by Pickering; 47-98 anonymous; 99-109 (where the series ended) by George K. Rickards. The set, as contained in libraries, often ends with Vol. 105, 1865, after which the Law Reports Statutes begin.

⁴ Vols. 1-18 have no editor's name on the titlepage, but the prefaces to Vols. 1 and 9 were signed by Owen Ruffhead. Vol. 16 apparently consolidated two rival series, as it purports to be a twelfth volume to Mr. Runnington's edition, or a sixteenth to Mr. Ruffhead's.

⁷ A continuation of the two last series. No editor's name is given.

² The Irish Law Times is still current.

³ The titlepage of the London folio edition of 1628 gives this name "Sir John Davys;" the preface is signed "Jo. Davis;" the Dublin folio of 1674 spells the author's name Davis; but the 12mo edition of 1762, "now first translated into English" (from the original Law French), adds an e and makes it Davies.

Digest.

--------------------------------	---	------	-----------

³ This set is usually labelled and catalogued under the name of CRAIGIE, STEWART, and PATON. Several years before the date of Vol. 1, Craigie and Stewart commenced the publication, in serial parts, of reports in continuation of Robertson. They covered the years 1726-1753, but did not complete even one volume. Paton took up the reports and continued them alone through the remainder of the first volume and the rest of the series, which is cited as Paton in the later Scotch Reports.

⁴ Wilson & Shaw reported Vols. 1 to 5, to 1831 inclusive, getting somewhat in arrears. Shaw & Maclean then commenced reporting the cases from 1835 on; and Wilson & Courtenay issued one part of cases in 1832 to fill the gap. But as Wilson was appointed to the Supreme Court of Mauritius, and Courtenay retired from practice, Shaw & Maclean (while continuing their own series) reported the other intervening years in two volumes, including the one part of "Wilson & Courtenay," which they published as Vols. 6 and 7 of Wilson & Shaw.

⁶ See note 10 on p. 73.

⁷ Already catalogued. See pp. 69 and 70.

COURT OF SESSION.¹

[The old folios on this list are sometimes difficult to identify, owing to a confusion, in labelling, between the family names and the local titles of the reporters. Thus, Henry Home, of Kames, was sometimes known as Home, sometimes as Kames; and so with other reporters. In old bindings these appellations are used indifferently.]

Sinclair (),	1540 to 1548.
Maitland (Sir Richard),	1550 to 1569.
Colvil (Alexander),	1570 to 1584.
Haddington (Thomas Hamilton, Earl of),	1592 to 1624.
Kerse (Sir Thomas Hope, of),	1610 to 1632.
[The last is quoted by Kames under the name of Hope.]
Nicolson (Sir Thomas, of Carnock),	1610 to 1632.
Auchinleck (Sir George, of Balmanno),	1628 to 1635.
McGill (Robert, Lord Foord),	1649 to 1650.
Newbyth (Sir John),	1664 to 1667.
Gosford (Sir Peter Wedderburn, of),	1668 to 1677.
Home (Sir P.),	1681 to 1688.
Tait, Alexander,	1762 to 1780.
Burnet (James, Lord Monboddo),	1788 to 1768.

Notes of Cases are also found in the published volumes of Balfour's Practicks and Spottiswoode's Practicks. These, however, are rather notes used as illustrations, than reports of cases.

See also the interesting notes on early Scotch reporters, in Tait's Index to the Decisions of the Court of Session, pp. 499 to 533.

² By Sir Alexander Gibson, of Durie.

³ "The Decisions of the English Judges, during the Usurpation."

⁵ By Sir James Dalrymple, of Stair.

⁶ By Sir John Nisbet, of Dirleton. These reports (though separately paged), were published and bound up with "Some Doubts and Questions in the Law, especially of Scotland," by the same author.

⁸ By Sir Roger Hog, of Harcarae.

⁹ Forbes was the first of the reporters appointed by the Faculty.

¹⁰ The catalogues give two volumes for Bruce. Only one volume was published separately, however, under this title, containing cases in 1714-1718. This is usually found bound up with Kames' Remarkable Decisions, Vol. 1. Vol. 3 of the Faculty of Advocates Decisions has a supplement containing decisions by Bruce in 1716-1717. This is what is cited as the second volume of Bruce.

¹¹ By Henry Home, of Kames. Second edition. The titlepages do not indicate that the volumes are connected; indeed, there is a gap of two years between them. The first is entitled "Remarkable Decisions . . . from 1716 to 1728"; the second, ditto, "from 1730 to 1752." Vol. 1 of Bruce is often bound with Vol. 1 Kames, and the joint volume has been called "Bruce & Home's Decisions."

¹² By Henry Home, of Kames. Second edition. See preceding note.

Kames' Select Decisions is often bound uniformly with the Remarkable Decisions, as Vol. 3 of Kames' Decisions. There were two editions (or rather impressions, as there was no change) of each of these three volumes.

¹⁴ Second edition. There is no difference between the editions, however, except in paging. Clerk Home was published anonymously. It may be identified by the dates on the titlepage.

¹⁵ By Sir James Fergusson, of Kilkerran. Other cases, from MSS. of the same reporter, are published in Brown's Synopsis.

¹⁸ The titlepage gives no reporter's name, but Robert Bell subscribes to the dedication on the following page.

¹⁹ Like Hailes, this volume was published after Morison, Brown, and Bell, and is not included in their collections.

²⁰ By the reporters of the Faculty of Advocates. The volumes are not numbered on the titlepages, and when misplaced can only be identified by the dates. There have been two or three editions of some of the volumes, not always paged alike, but otherwise the same.

²¹ The Scotch method of citing these reports is perplexing to Americans. They seem to be never cited as Session Cases, such a series, but sometimes by the names of the three first reporters of the series, by the two first reporters, or, much oftener, by the name of the reporter appearing first upon the titlepage of the first volume. Thus, any volume of the second series is cited as "Dunlop" (abbreviated D.), though Dunlop ceased to be a reporter with Vol. 3. The citation 16 D. refers to Vol. 16 of the Second Series, which happens to be reported by Fraser, Montgomery, Milne, and Macpherson; and so with other volumes of each series, whose reporters change from time to time, without affecting the designation.

Although this is the approved method of citation in Scotland, it is recommended to American lawyers, if they have occasion to refer to these reports, to use the citation given in the text, above, which would be clearer to courts and counsel here than the Scotch style.

Nothing appears on the titlepages of the first or second series to identify the series except reporters' names and the dates. It is only with the beginning of the third series that the series is specified on the titlepages.

²⁰ A second edition was published of the first five volumes, with paging different from the first.

²² This work has a bibliography of its own, most of which is set out at great length in Tait's Index to the Decisions of the Court of Session, pp. 515-528. It was first published in 38 volumes (1801-1807), which are now always bound in nineteen. Two volumes of Synopsis make Vols. 20 and 21 of the set, and Vol. 22 is a Supplemental Volume, with varied contents. Appendixes (I. and II.) were current with the volumes of the Dictionary as it was published, and are now bound in with the volumes, as they appeared, with several sets of separate paging, — a very confusing lack of arrangement.

Morison reprints most of the cases in the reports of the Court of Session, up to 1808. See Tait's Index, as above.

²³ This is in the nature of a supplement (1808-1816) to Morison's Dictionary, and is different from the "Synopsis" usually numbered Vols. 20 and 21, which is an Index to the preceding volumes. This later Synopsis has no title except "Synopsis of the Decisions of the Court of Session, in continuation of the Dictionary of Decisions," but may be distinguished from the other by the dates found at the bottom of the pages. The top paging is by subjects only, but the bottom paging is continuous.

²⁴ Containing cases, both from MS. and from printed volumes, which had been omitted in Morison's Dictionary.

²⁵ "Reports of the Decisions of the Court of Session, as given in the Edinburgh Star." This volume is pagged 1 to 146; then 1 to 164; then 1 to 84, but the cases are numbered throughout, from 1 to 190.

²⁶ With digests of "analogous cases in the courts of England." These volumes, which were originally published as portions of a periodical called The Law Chronicle (Scots), or Journal of Jurisprudence and Legislation, appear to contain a few cases not in the regular series of Session Cases, covering the same years; but the bulk of their cases duplicate the regular series.

²⁷ Cases in the Court of Session (mainly), Teind Court, Court of Exchequer, Court of Justiciary, and in the House of Lords. Reported by Stuart, Milne, Peddie, and three others. It is usually catalogued as Stuart, Milne, & Peddie, but the Scotch citation is Stuart alone.

²⁸ A table of cases to the Court of Session reports up to the year 1808. It contains valuable bibliographic notes on the early Scotch reporters. It is sometimes bound as Vol. 25 of Morison.

This is the authoritative edition.

³ These volumes are only reprints from the Statutes-at-Large of Great Britain of the acts which pertain particularly to Scotland.

ADMIRALTY.

Late catalogues give "Frazer's Admiralty Reports;" meaning, apparently, Alexander Frazer's edition (1814) of Boyd's Judicial Proceedings before the High Court of Admiralty, &c. The titlepage of that edition states that the text is "interspersed with decisions," but examination fails to discover them, and there seems to be no reason for considering the book as a volume of reports.

BRITISH COLONIAL REPORTS.

It is very difficult to get either full or accurate information about the law reports of most of the English Colonies. No library in England or America has a complete set of them, and even the best catalogues give no more than partial lists under this head.

The writer has examined and collated all the Colonial law books in the libraries of the British Museum, the Colonial Office, the India Office, the Privy Council, the Middle and Inner Temples, and Lincoln's Inn, in London, and the principal American libraries; has corresponded with librarians and judges in the Colonies, and has had access to the memoranda collected by N. C. Moak, Esq., while preparing his catalogue. Notwithstanding this careful research, the lists here given, though more thorough than any previously printed, are still incomplete, and many of the items have been taken from letters and catalogues, without opportunity for the minute verification which has been applied to other departments of this manual.

It is to be hoped that some library will undertake to make a complete collection of the law books of the British Colonies. Even if not uniformly valuable as precedents, they would serve to illustrate the influence and extension of the English legal system as variously modified by contact with different races, and by the novel conditions of colonial life.

The arrangement of colonies in use at the British Colonial Office is followed here, rather than an alphabetical order, which would separate kindred communities and similar series of reports. It is as follows:—

[Up to 1862, the principal courts of India were the Supreme Courts of Judicature and the courts of the East India Company.

The latter were known as Sudder, Sudur, or Sudr (High or Chief) Courts, and divided into the Dewanny Adawlut (Civil Court) and Nizamut Adawlut (Criminal Court). There were also the Zillah, or district courts, and the Foujdaree Adawlut, or police magistrates' courts. Select decisions of these courts were published from time to time in the different provinces of India. Under "Act XII. of 1843," the registers of each of the courts in every province began to print monthly reports of all the cases decided. The series thus begun continued for many years, — some of them until the establishment of the High Courts in 1862. This immense mass, probably more than a hundred volumes, of unarranged and undigested cases, mainly on Oriental law, is nowhere adequately catalogued or described. Fragments of the series appear in different libraries, but the writer has been unable to learn how many volumes were published in each province. Indeed, they are paged so irregularly, — sometimes by provinces, sometimes by months or years, — without titlepages or indexes, that their division into volumes seems to be purely arbitrary. No attempt has been made to include them in the following lists. (See the Introduction to Morley's Digest, Vol. 3.)

The "Supreme Court" was constituted by Act of British Parliament, and was independent of the Companies' courts, its judges being appointed by the Crown. As it covered, to some extent, the same territory and the same class of cases, the two systems were in a certain sense rivals.

In 1862 the Supreme Court and the Company's Sudder courts were united, by special legislation, in the "High Court" of each province.

The reports are now published by a "Council of Law Reporting," under an (Indian) Act of 1875.

For cases appealed from the Indian courts, see the Privy Council cases, especially the East Indian Appeals, on p. 74.

For a full account of the courts and the judicial system of India, see the Introduction to Morley's Digest, Vol. 1.]

² Morley's Digest is valuable for its Introduction to Vol. 1, which gives a clear account of the laws and courts of India, and for the Reports of East and Perry, which constitute the greater part of Vol. 2. The third volume is entitled "New Series, Vol. 1," and is an appendix to the first two volumes.

Reports of Cases, inserted by way of illustration, by SIR FRANCIS MACNAGHTEN in his "Considerations on the Hindu Law," &c., 1824.

Notes of Cases (very valuable), in LONGUEVILLE CLARK's editions of the Rules and Orders of the Supreme Court, 1829; of the additional Rules and Orders 1829; and of the Rules and Orders for 1831-32, published 1834.

Notes of Cases, 1774-1798, principally points of practice, but "highly useful," in Smollett's Collection of Orders on the Plea Side of the Supreme Court, 1834.

The second volume of W. H. Macnaghten's Hindu Law, 1829, consists of opinions of Hindu law officers to the courts.

² This edition is only a reprint of that which appeared in 1827-1849. Macnaghten edited Vols. 1, 2, 3; Macnaghten and Udney, Vol. 4; J. C. C. Sutherland, Vol. 5; the other volumes are anonymous, but the whole series is known as Macnaghten's Reports. An index to the seven volumes was published at Calcutta in 1849.

⁵ Only three parts (180 pages) of 12 Sevestre appear to have been published.

⁶ The first edition of Morton was published in 1841. The 1853 edition was edited by Montrieux, and contained a supplement with additional cases 1789-1803. This supplement is bound as a separate volume, and entitled "Montrieux's Reports," in the Harvard Law Library.

⁸ Only one part of Bignell (pp. 181 and xi., without index) was published.

⁹ Entitled Vol. 1. No other volume was published.

¹⁰ Of Taylor & Bell, Vol. 1 has 218 pages, Vol. 2, 304 pages, without titles or indexes.

¹¹ Of 2 Boulnois, only one part (212 pages, without index) was published.

¹² Cited as Marshall, though sometimes bound with Sevestre in two volumes, as "Appeal Cases in Bengal." It is entitled Vol. 1.

¹⁴ The "Full Bench Rulings," edited by L. A. Goodeve and J. V. Woodman, form a supplemental volume to the Bengal Law Reports.

¹⁵ The titlepage calls Sevestre "Vol. 2, a continuation of Marshall's Reports," but it seems to be cited as Sevestre's Appeal Cases.

¹⁶ This volume, by Sutherland, of "Decisions of the Appellate High Court from January to July, 1864," was published as a Supplement or special number to the Weekly Reporter, and is often cited as the "Gap number."

¹⁷ Thirty weekly numbers of this periodical, from November, 1839, to May, 1840, are in the Harvard Law Library. Were there any more?

¹⁹ Edited by D. Sutherland.

REVISED STATUTES OF ONTARIO	2	Rev. Stat. Ont. 1877	1877	To 1877

entitled "Queen's Bench and Practice Court Reports (Old Series), edited by J. Lukin Robinson," and Vol. 6, "Queen's Bench Reports (Old Series), edited by Christopher Robinson. These editors evidently carried out the reports begun in the Jurist, to fill the gap between Draper and the U. C. Q. B.; and as their volumes were published after the latter series had commenced, they gave the former the title of "Old Series," on titlepage and label. In consequence of a change in the plan of publication, the paging of Vol. 2 is confused.

Vols. 1, 2, John H. Cameron.

Vols. 33-42, H. C. W. Wethey.

3-13, James L. Robinson.

43-46, S. J. Van Koughnet.

14-32, Christopher Robinson.

Vols. 33-46 were also "edited" by Christopher Robinson.

The Queen's Bench Reports, as the reports of the first court established in the province, were cited as Upper Canada Reports (U. C. R.), and have retained that name, by courtesy. This citation would be too indefinite to be used in the United States.

⁹ The reporters are, —

Vols. 1-14, Edward C. Jones.

QUEBEC LAW DIGEST ¹¹ . .	2	1878-1882	1810-1880
-------------------------------------	---	-----------	-----------

Latest Revision of Laws. [A new revision is now in preparation.]

² Cases in K. B.; in the Provincial Court of Appeals; and a few in the court of Vice-Admiralty and on appeals to the Privy Council. Although the date of publication of this volume is 1834, it contains two cases decided in 1835.

³ Neither volume is numbered, but the citation seems to be 1 and 2 Stuart. The earlier volume has cases in 1823 and 1832, in the appendix.

⁴ "Décisions des Tribunaux du Bas-Canada." Some of the cases are reported in French, others in English. The "Rédacteurs" at Quebec were MM. Lelièvre, Angers, Dunbar, and Larue; the "Collaborateurs" at Montreal were MM. Beaudry, Fleet, and Robertson.

⁶ "Rapports Judiciaires de Québec." Published under the direction of an editorial committee of the bar of the Province of Quebec, and edited by R. J. Bradley and J. E. Larue. Now current. One volume is issued every year. Vols. 1 and 2 were reprinted, without changes, in 1877.

⁷ "Décisions de la Cour d'Appel, par L. C. W. Dorion." Now current.

¹⁰ Vols. 1 and 2 of this work were entitled "Lower Canada Law Journal"; Vols. 3 and 4, "Canada Law Journal."

¹¹ By Charles H. Stephens. Vol. 2 contains cases from 1877 to Jan. 1, 1881, with many unreported cases, decided principally during 1876 and 1877.

REVISED STATUTES (4th Series)	1	Rev. Stat. N. Sc.	1873	To 1873
-------------------------------	---	-------------------	------	---------

⁶ Decisions of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia; edited by John M. Geldert and James M. Oxley, and sometimes cited under their names.

⁹ In two parts, 329 pages in all. The last page is printed on the inside of the cover.

¹¹ The Admiralty Decisions of Sir William Young. Edited by James M. Oxley.

⁴ Vol. 1 was "edited by William Pugsley," from notes by James Hannay; Vols. 2 and 3 were reported by Pugsley.

STATUTE LAW OF THE CAPE OF GOOD HOPE . . .	1	Cape G. H. Stat. 1862	1862	1714-1853.
STATUTE LAW OF GRIQUALAND WEST ⁷	2	Griqualand Stat. 1875	1875-1877	1871-1876

¹ These are decisions of Hon. William Menzies, published posthumously. Parts 1 and 2 of Vol. I. are arranged by subjects; the rest of the volume is arranged chronologically. Vols. 2 and 3 are arranged by subjects, and edited by James Buchanan. They are entitled "Menzies' Reports, New Series."

Vol. 2 has 476 pages; Vol. 3, 598 pages, without indexes. An "Index to Menzies' Reports," by James Buchanan, was published in 1877. It consists of an index for each volume, pagged separately, but all bound together as one index-volume.

² Only one part of Watermeyer (72 pages, without title or index) was published.

³ These reports were published in parts, each year being pagged by itself, but not numbered as a volume. It will be noticed that there is an interval of two years unreported, between the reports of James Buchanan and those of Eben J. Buchanan.

INDEX OF LEGAL AUTHORS, ELEMENTARY WORKS, AND LAW JOURNALS.

THE following list comprises an index to all reporters and editors mentioned in the foregoing pages, together with an enumeration, by running titles only, of legal treatises now in use, and of law journals, whether current or extinct. Local works, and old books now gone entirely out of use, are omitted.

If this Manual finds sufficient favor to encourage the plan, the author intends to compile, for some future edition, a list of all law-books ever published in the English language, with dates of editions and brief bibliographic notes. To make such a list with thoroughness and accuracy would take more time than he has now at his disposal, and he must content himself for the present with this "finding list" of the works ordinarily found in law libraries, or cited in modern books.
